West Coast USA and Indonesia's Cauldron

Hi folks,

Just a quick note about the earthquakes, on the US west coast and Indonesia, as well

Let's look at the stellium of planets housed in Cancer and their relationship to the US west coast.

On Sunday 26062005, both Mercury and Venus will be conjunct Saturn, at 27° Cancer and we also find the Sun in the early degrees of that sign, as well.

Let's use San Francisco (SF) in this example, at 238 degrees on the astrodial, determined by our geodetic equivalents.

That means, SF will be trine (121°) to the Mercury/Venus/Saturn conjunction and if we continue the trine around the dial, it is within 3° of the midpoint, between Uranus and Mars on that day.

More notable, is the Jupiter transit over the midpoint, between Mercury/Venus/Saturn conjunction and Pluto, exactly a biquintile (144°) away, at 22:52 Sagittarius underground or hidden stuff.

Jupiter's involvement is usually expansive ... so expect something BIG.

Mars being directly opposite Jupiter, means it is on the other midpoint, across the biquintile or 144° between Me/Ve/Sa conj and Pluto.

At midday, the Moon will also trigger a quincunx (150°) aspect, between Jupiter and Uranus in Pisces this brings institutions, like hospitals and high tech industries into play.

Declination of Me/Ve/Sa conjunction will be about 23* North at that time which would make it a roughly on a line from Hong Kong to Mexico City.

Stinger in this story, is the Mercury/Venus/Saturn conjunction, by geodetic equivalent is located just to the east of Mt Bromo,/Bali in Indonesia and Jupiter by declination is a just few degrees to the North.

Two fire signs are involved, with Mars in Aries and Pluto in Sagittarius and a tredecile aspect, indicating change in the current situation, by way of fire ???

Mars will be stationed on a longitude, running through Germany and off the west coast of Italy.

Jupiter will be located over an area NE of Fiji islands in the Pacific Ocean, while the midpoint between Uranus and Mars will be located over the longitude through Dublin, Gibraltar and West Africa.

Let's see how this one pans out
