Hi folks,

DOW/XJO ..... so far, our analysis about Saturn in Leo, posted on 04072005 has had us pointed in the right direction overall ..... here's a little more info:

As traders look for positions in defensive stocks, one sector that seems due for a run is health and service sector, particularly those servicing institutions, like hospitals and prisons, as well as those institutions themselves, like aged care, hospitals, prison security, etc .....

Should start to see evidence of this, from about 27th Oct 2005, as Jupiter makes its ingress into Scorpio, with final rallies and highs from about 21-to-29112005, as Jupiter makes a trine to Uranus ..... ???

Soon after, from 02122005 - thru - 19122005 may be a particularly nasty time to be holding any stocks .....

..... not only is Saturn in Leo and retrograde, but Jupiter will be directly opposite Mars retrograde in early December, then Jupiter squares Saturn from about 12122005-to-19122005, which should magnify the negative influence Saturn is having on the markets, as it continues its sojourn in Leo.

Stocks, like HDR in particular, may also be hit hard, at that time ..... more about that, later.

happy days

yogi

Click here for astrotrading books .....