

Against my will I got entangled with Medicine.
I met Alice and we fell in love.
Our life in the land of Dracula had been twisted and turned by the "rulers."
In 1948 my carrier was almost terminated by the Medical School
Communist Part Purification Committee.
They sat behind a red table, under the pictures of the Saints.
When I heard my was name called, it woke me from my reverie.
The boss said to me:
"Comrade L., where were you after the war?"
"In Germany, Sir."
"Call me comrade."
"In the West or in the East?"
"In the West Sir."
"Comrade."
"What army liberated you comrade?"
"The American Army, Sir."
Dead silence sat into the room.
"You are wrong! The Glorious Soviet Army liberated you.."
"Never! I swear to God! I never saw a soviet soldier, unless prisoners of war and even they were liberated by the American Army, Sir!"
I expected to be promptly arrested, evicted from Medical School.
"We arrived to the conclusion that comrade L., is politically illiterate."
