

Love Songs is a fast paced, riveting and enticing novel with lots of 'Ah-ha' and Wow! moments.

Not since Waiting to Exhale has a novel captured the essence of how African American women live, love and tackle the world.

These three women start out as strangers in Birmingham, Alabama but are soon thrown together when the city is rocked by a killer tornado.

Sonja is a drop dead gorgeous bi-racial beauty who feels the world owes her something just because she's in it. Men want to be with her and women want to be her.

Evelyn is the eternal 'good girl' who never seems to catch a break when it comes to love. As she finally attains her dream of becoming an entrepreneur, her fairy tale marriage is revealed to be a true horror story.

Gail is a smart nurse and divorcee, with two wonderful children. After two failed marriages and a track record of choosing the wrong men, she finally believes it's okay to sleep single in a double bed.

Follow their stories and sing their Love Songs, as secrets are revealed, lies are discovered and relationships are tested.

Love Songs starts on a worldly journey that ends at a spiritual destination for each of these women and the people in their lives.

About Gwen Harmon

Gwen is a veteran television broadcast journalist who has served in corporate communications management with Federal Express, United Airlines and The National Civil Rights Museum as well as with federal, local and state governmental agencies. This animal lover resides in Memphis, TN and this is her first novel.

LOVE SONGS

Gwen Harmon

