

CELEBRITY ELECT

Sabrina Lamb

A Hilarious, Exciting New Book Release

Celebrity Elect: When Your Favorite Star Becomes
President of the United States
ISBN 978-1-4404-0277-7

October 28, 2008: Celebrity Elect is a racy, fantastical exploration of what would happen if instead of dancing for America, America's favorite stars would take their advocacy from sound bytes to their announcements, campaigns and in some instances, actually becoming the President of the United States. Charles Barkley, Clint Eastwood, Spike Lee, Whoopi Goldberg, Wil Smith, Alex Baldwin, Oprah, Jack

Nicholson, and Tavis Smiley are among those who are satirized.

PRESIDENTIAL TIDBITS

Disgraced President OJ Simpson addressed the nation from a Clark County jail, Friday night, on the heels of his conviction and fall from grace. "You won't have the Juice to kick around anymore. But as my last request as President of the United States, I urge Congress to act boldly and pass an immediate bipartisan bailout of my ass — or minimally tell Al Cowlings to bring my Bronco around back. I would like to apologize to the black community for not returning their calls since 1995....but with me teetering on the brink of a depression, it's important that I, the last remaining President of a superpower, not go out like this. Congress's failure to act swiftly will result in my long painful residence with a 6'9" semi-transvestite that ran out of money to finish he-she's operation."

The candidacy of Presidential candidate Mike Tyson was derailed today when the former pugilist allegedly bit off the index finger of Fox News's Bill O'Reilly during a heated interview. Reached for comment, Tyson's campaign manager said in a written statement, "Mike believes that O'Reilly enticed him by waving his finger in his face. He also maintains that he is not the same man that he was when he bit off Evander Holyfield's ear."

CELEBRITY ELECT PRAISE

"Sabrina Lamb's writing takes political satire to another level. Her words give much comic relief which is very needed in the precarious times we are living in." — Bruce George, Co-Founder of Def Poetry Jam

"Sabrina has the gift to poke fun at those she likes AND dislikes, a trait that is sorely lacking in humorous writing these days. She does it as well as anyone, and it is reason enough to read this talented writer's work." — Sam Greenfield, WVNJ Radio, Comedian.

"Celebrity Elect is one book that has to be read by all. It is funny and has many interesting stories on how celebrities are not always as smart as they pretend to be. Read this book." — Shelley Wynter, Host of The Right Side, ustalknetwork.com

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Sabrina Lamb is the best-selling author of "Have You Met Miss Jones?: The Life and Loves of Radio's Most Controversial Diva?" (Random House) and the forthcoming book "Keepin' It Real: The Rise of Bullsh*t In The Black Community". She also co-hosted "The Morning Show" on 1600 WWRL, "Open Line", "Week In Review" and "Wake-Up Club" on WRKS-FM. She has appeared on Fox Business Network, CNN's Nancy Grace, BET's "Meet The Faith", "Tonight with Ed Gordon", et al. She was also a political satirist on the America's Talking Network and Lifetime Television's Girl's Night Out, where she wove her comedic skills around issues such as homelessness, foreign policy and spousal abuse. Sabrina got laughs and delivered the message.

To place book orders, log on: <http://amazon.com>.

For book signings and interviews, contact Bryan Adams at: 201 833-0720 or bryan@consultfab.com.