

A young African American female had a difficult time finding her way through life. Several circumstances and situations, some comical, that she was involved in caused her to learn lessons.

Sherelle is a young black female struggling as a single parent of four beautiful children, hoping for the utmost success to ensure them of a hopeful future. She has battled struggles throughout her life, fighting to severely change her life for the positive. As a person who loves to share experiences and stories with others, Sherelle knows that she has finally found her calling after searching for some while—presenting herself as just a somebody, trying to harm nobody. She wants to show everybody that change is never too late and is always possible. If she can do it, success can be achieved by anybody!
