

Trapped in a world full of disease, death, and political corruption, a man known as Mr. Jackeeryall Vincent West is in control of one of the world's most powerful corporations known as M.B.T. Corporation. However, in the underworld that he has built, Neo-Stasis and Neo-Star Base, he is known as Grand Admiral Jackeeryall Vincent West, who is in control of a secret society that was built on the principles of M.B.T. He has a space program that far surpasses anything that the world has ever known. Or so he thought...

Tarceeyal, the captain of a group of alien explorers, discovers a new race of beings, which they dub terrans. They befriend a secret organization that reveals that another species has been visiting the Earth for years and presenting new technology to them without the permission of Vorbes, the Intergalactic High Council that rules the universe. The secret organization comes under attack for rescuing them and they escape back to their home world to warn of an evil plot to take over the universe.
