

FROM WHENCE I CAME... I was raised to believe in God. I was raised to go to church and pray. But what exactly happened? How did I make the wrong turn in life? A path that took me into the depths of hell. There was no way I would or could ever make it out alive.

While in an abusive relationship so traumatic, its a wonder I wasn't killed. And then to make matters worst, I got addicted to the drug cocaine, while trying to raise four children as a single parent and at that the sole provider.

I had to get my life back. I had to get it together. The problem was I didn't know how. So I prayed and prayed. Lo and behold, that was the answer! I had to build from the ground up, my relationship with the Father. It wasn't easy, but starting over again turned out to be the best thing that I could ever hope and pray for. Praise my Father, for He is good.
