

"As This World Winds Down is my third book of poetry, and like the first two, it is shared in order to glorify Jesus Christ and also to strengthen you.

You are holding in your hands some selections of what I consider to be my best work.

It is no secret that our world is winding down, but The Lord has promised to renew our strength if we would only wait on Him; that though our physical bodies are wearing out, our spirits need not.

There is no substitute for God's Word as given to us in the Old and New Testaments of the Bible. It is my prayer that As This World Winds Down will encourage you to trust God and to develop an intimate relationship with Him."

~ Zach B. McClure, a fellow human & poet

Elephant Postcard Press
46 Spring Street, Norwood, NY 13668