Dedication

This book was created with the resources I had available. I'm grateful for them.

— Omar

o my Creator G.O.D. and for your holy inspiration and the providence of spiritual determination you have blessed me with that only You could always provide. A special loving dedication to my great strict stepdad, Rafael E. Hernandez, who raised me with good values and did not do such a bad job at it. He has rested in peace for over 14 years. Rafael, I hope you are in the heavens and reading my works; you can give me your opinion later when I get there. To my real, biological father, Emeterio R. Lopez, for trying the best he could to be a dad, I love you, too, for G.O.D. helped you make me. To every side of my families, thank you and G.O.D. help you all.

Mommy, next to G.O.D., you are one of the best, warm hearted, most enduring, caring persons I have ever known and lived with. Thank you for raising me the best that you could and for being the most unique mom that you can possibly be, regardless of our ups and downs. We both know it was not easy, but we changed that and made it this far. Thank you for pushing me to publish, as well as being one of my inspirations, and for helping me with the promotional marketing aspects of my book. Thanks to Dave Bricker for being my teacher, mentor, plus most of all, a true friend. May the G.O.D. of the heavens bless everyone who has lent me a hand through this venture.

Preface

 Thank you dear readers, for taking your time to enjoy a copy of G.O.D.'s Biblical Evolutions. I hope you enjoy reading it, as much as I have been delighted in creating and finally publishing it. You might ask yourself, “There are millions of books out there to read, so why should I pick this title? What makes this one so unique?”

Really, the answer is the contents in this tale. This book truly is a narrative with not only just words on paper, but letters that form an extraordinary story. What really makes this work different is the originality through out the whole book – from beginning to end. It is an account of past biblical proportions never heard, seen, or read, by any, but those who now G.O.D. has granted the privilege to do so. Sometimes, some of us might judge a really good book by its cover, so hopefully this book's cover has impressed you. Perhaps the title of the book aroused your curiosity, maybe you just know the author, or probably you want to read and comprehend something truly and totally in contrast to most creative spiritual literature out there. Well, here I offer you my concept — a totally unusual, but distinctive revelatory story sent to me by a higher power, for all of you who choose to comprehend shall enjoy.

Very well, there is an interest now that is making you read the message this far in, and I seriously and truly owe you a gratitude for this goodwill gesture on your part. Before you continue to peruse the pages of the story, there are a certain number of parameters that are required for you to understand this book more easily.

First:

Inside this book, the word G.O.D. means: Grace Omnipotent Divine. G.O.D. is spelled out meaningful as an acronym, but It is pronounced as the word itself — GOD. Additionally, G.O.D. has no distinguishing characteristic form in this story, for G.O.D. is neither a he nor a she. Since the English language has no pronoun dedicated to the supreme being, and the words he or she do not completely encompass what G.O.D. is, I have chosen to use the pronoun of the word; It to represent the almighty encompassing Deity. For truly, G.O.D. is everything and everything is related with — G.O.D., so openly G.O.D. is It. My good readers though, you may go ahead and label G.O.D. as you like and feel comfortable doing. That is between you and The Almighty Lord.

Second:

You may have noticed my book's logo is distinguished with man's many religious symbols. Fortunately, it is my ® trademark in this manual, and it is not to be considered religious in any way. Spiritualism is accepted as a label upon the emblem and content of this unique volume, but no religion of any type should be characterize this literature. I am not here to preach to you as to what faithful-belief you should follow, but rather to introduce a story of interest to you.

Third:

Sciences, politics and time are all irrelevant to the stories in this book. As you progress through each evolved chapter, you will read how each of the subjects above fits in this book. So please do not prejudice or assume.

Fourth:

This book has to do with an unusual biblical theme, but it does not relate, add, or take anything in any way from any verses of the Holy Bible itself. Some names have been purposefully changed, not misspelled. The fact is that most of G.O.D.'s holy books have been a true inspiration for me, but I felt that some things needed to be truthfully to be unfolded. Let us remember, that G.O.D. is very mysterious, unpredictable and illuminating.

That is probably one of the main reasons the Lord is utilizing me in the writing of this story.

Fifth:

These accounts of biblical segments that I provide, I personally think are historically truthful. I could probably prove with some strong evidence, some day that these stories actually has happened and are past realities, revealed to me by my belief in G.O.D., to tell the world as of today. Still, many will disagree with me, as some do not believe that G.O.D. works in Its own very unpredictable, mysterious and unexplainable ways, but It does. So I offer you an option.

Whether you think this work is a biblical novel or you actually believe it is a biblical reality, or maybe both, the only critiques and opinions that truly will matter, will come from those who read and comprehend the message, from page to page, to the end, without being offended or thinking the missive is blasphemous or ignorant. Analyzing, the good, as well as the bad. The truth be told is; I hope that regardless of whether you think this story is real or not, that you truly enjoy it and like what I have to offer you in this book. All I can really do is thank you and apologize, if there are any dislikes.

It is important to note; that this document was not made by a person thinking in the terms of rhetoric or legalese, but a sensible personage utilizing common sense. This book was made to be understood without constantly picking up a dictionary. Still, all those readers, partisans, authors, with a higher IQ than most, you are more than welcome to enjoy a unique story of interest.

For G.O.D.'s Biblical Evolutions is a book based on a much longer, a revealing in-depth version of the beginning of the Genesis, a broader range of a revelatory view of the New Testament, and a very straight forward explanation of a near soon arriving Revelations and its holocaustic effect upon humanity, to truly likely emerged.

As you read this book completely, and most importantly comprehend what is being told in the story, for some who have knowledge or claim to know G.O.D., Lucifer, Jesus, or other biblical characters, do not take this the wrong way, but it does not hurt to learn a little bit more—if it is possible.

Please, if many of you can imagine, back in biblical times there where many unusual, yet different types of languages and ways of talking, but in this case, my book is to be understood by those who pick it up and read it around the world, in the English language. Maybe one day, it will be readable in different native tongues, for now let us settle and do everything the American way. Forever living with G.O.D. and may the Lord bless the billions of people, in all countries around the world. This book is for anyone aged eleven and up. These are truly suggestions, so you may interpret and comprehend the message within my artistic lettered work much more easily. Enjoy.

he true Creative-Master of all existing infinite universes speaks to Its life partner. “My dear love one, the moment has come for our miraculous energetic Child of Light to be cast out to the plains of the darkness. Our Young Celestial shall bring forth Its creativeness into the dark dimensional space to control over the eternal elements. This Child is Our unique creation, a part of Us. Our Young One will spread Its true pure clarity of love eternally through the ages to come. The shadows of the universe shall respond to It, for My Child shall bring forth many blessed attributes. For those that are formed to live, that search My Young Glow, they shall be eternally granted a full, active sentience. Let it be done. For I — the Creator of all, have spoken eternally.”

“I am proud to come to perceive all that Our Young One shall accomplish soon enough, My Liege. Our Prodigy shall light and clarify the darkness of the universe and bring an environment upon it. Our love shall be one of Its major powers and the unique concept of appreciation and compassion for life shall flourish. Respect, honor, and worship of our Holy One, will be obliged. This great engagement shall be done,” answered the unpredictable archaic of the holy grand Creator.

After the order was made, it was done. The infinite loving Celestial Parents forever cast their only, yet newly manifested begotten Child into the darkness of the universal plains. So the eternal journey began for the prodigy of light and the controller of the dark, who is and shall always be none other than:

G.O.D. the (Grace Omnipotent Divine)

Evolution Chapter 1

G.O.D. and the Universal Planetary Constellation of the Original Angels

ouquazeus, G.O.D.'s illuminating fluorescent angel speaks to all of humanity around the world, “Good blessings everyone on Earth. Ladies, girls, boys, and gentlemen, I am so thankfully to be here chosen, for I am one of the many quadrillions of worshippers and personal workers of the Illuminating One, or as some of you may call him, her or It:

Creator, Allah, Eloi, Buddha, the Lord, Jehovah, Gitchi Manitou, the Great Spirit, Sir Deity, heck, the Big Guy Upstairs whatever you want to call It is fine. Truly, I don't mind what you call my Creator, but I call It, the enigmatic; G.O.D., and I do not think It wants to be labeled as he or she, but as The Guardian of all. I could be wrong, but I doubt it. You know, here is a little secret: the letters in the word G.O.D. to me mean the Grace Omnipotent Divine, but there are other definitive acronyms that go along with the word G.O.D., like Gold Oil Drugs. Also, if you put the letter O twice in G.O.D., you get the word Good. If you spell GOD backwards, it spells dog. Truly no wonder, that the animal is men's and women's best friend. By the way, there are billions of loyal animals for millions of humans to take care of and love. That is, of course, if we may earn their trust, like anything else in life. Sadly, I remember when my dog Fluke, my cat Lucy, my whole family and myself, were all slaughtered by cynical delinquent bushwhackers, over two centuries ago. A very horrible death, my family and I suffered. I still sadly remember that day. As I lay dying on the cold, hard, dirt road, I recalled witnessing as my spiritual soul left my body and headed towards the heavens to G.O.D.'s cloudy arms.

Do not misinterpret my words, but on the many planets that I have visited and observed, there are wars without cause and crimes that constantly happen randomly, sometimes worse than here on Earth. Still, like Earth, other universal planets and galaxies, know to accept the importance of peace, love, and their personal beliefs in G.O.D. Earthlings should keep this in mind, if we have the same color blood, and we hate to shed blood, why can't we at least try to get along and practice more compassion with one another? Why are we at constant war with ourselves and others? Humans are difficult to comprehend at times, but can be very caring if they truly want to be. I guess many issues, like money, are to blame for most of our problems. I mean look at the prices of unimportant objects for sale around the Earth, how costly. This just clearly shows how almost everyone has a different sort of an addiction or problem. Think about the addiction for there are thousands, as there are millions of types of addicts all around you. Try to figure it out people, especially when we are cheating and truly hurting each other in many different legal and illegal ways, one way or another. This is especially true for the pain we constantly cause each other, due to the monetary issues and lack of love of human life.

Anyway folks, let the many human problems of life be for now. Let us read and enjoy, a story of awesome entertainment, as a solution — at least for a while. My Lord has requested me, of all Its angels, to tell you all a revealing, unique, true story. I hope you enjoy the clarity of the past, now to be told in the present and for the possible future.

Here it goes:

Where the universe ends, the heavens begin, and the almighty G.O.D. is the controller of It all. The Lord came forth for all of us, many long eons ago. It is a very small but extremely powerful, energetic luminous offspring that is the product of superb Celestial Entities of the profound life of light and the living darkness. They are the Celestial Parents. After Its dimensional creational birth, with Its new profound powers, G.O.D.

was given the ability to shine, reflect, and produce the energy of illumination of life throughout the whole darkness of the universal plains.

Wanting to please Its Celestial Parents, G.O.D. created an image for Itself in the shape of a huge shapeless-cloud that can transform into many colors. The Lord had also begun the expanding creation of what is known as the universal heavens. After that small modification in space, with dividing border lines, inside the spacious, cloudy, white haven, the creation of the original thirteen angelic beings was completed in spiritual soul union with G.O.D.

None of these original angels had distinguishable faces or any type of facial features at all, or were actually of any specific anatomy. Instead, they all had an illuminating light shining from where their faces should have been, they also had different shapes and sizes of their bodies, which served as their only identifying characteristic. As far as their blending colors, they were all the different, but white, yet, one that went by the name of Lucifer was the only one who was all golden-platinum. Though they had very limited abilities, their main senses were enhanced to follow the presence of their G.O.D., as the cloud of a wide variety of different colors It emanated upon them all.

Whatever G.O.D. ordered them to do, they did, especially when all thirteen would sing powerfully and beautifully, spreading their colorful essence and sounds of music throughout the heavens. The unique angels were the Creator's proud creation, as well as the Lord's Celestial Parents' unique entertainment.

Unfortunately, none of these angels follow the almighty Lord's ways any longer, and except for one, none of their names matter in this world you people live in. Each of the thirteen original angels is now imprisoned in confinements, interments which are made of natural planets. These worlds actually represent the seclusion of the thirteen original angels, in the constellation of the universal solar system. There are only ten planets that are acknowledged by humanity, and three huge ones that are still unrealized by humans.

How could angels become imprisoned inside the middle of a planet? When the original angels had angered G.O.D. eons ago, the Lord's beliefs and wrath turned its prodigal eternal powers into an experimentation of untapped universal evolution. Basically, It was the controller of it all, and It still, will, and shall always be.

Focusing on the third ever created angel, Lucifer, one of G.O.D.'s superb creations, he was the Lord's chosen favorite in many ways and for many reasons. He was Its proud perfect angel, after the first two that were originally ever made. G.O.D. gave Lucifer a whitish-yellow glow where his face should be, like all his brothers, but soon the Lord changed them all into colorful, illuminating, spirits that consisted of a mixture of different hues. From white, to yellow, to red, to gray, to orange, to green, to blue, to purple, but no black. No black, for the universe was too dark to bear. G.O.D. also gave Lucifer the first human-shaped body, unlike those before and after him that were in too many very different shapes to speak about for now. Lucifer had a special purpose – to spread the light, life, and love of the Lord. He also had a holy respect that the Lord bestowed upon him, granting him control of extreme powers over all of his other brothers that were created, the powers of a leader, yet no one was jealous of the third angel's gifts.

As G.O.D. granted them all an eternal life, it was bestowed upon Lucifer to lead the other twelve that he cared about and loved dearly. They all followed Lucifer wherever the Lord sent them. The third angel was so loved by the Creator for whatever personal reason the Lord had, that he was given responsibility for expanding the power of the golden holy light throughout the expansions that persist in the universe. Additionally he was given the ability to holy magically orchestrate the light through out the universal heavens; as the exquisite power of music was born.

G.O.D.'s first ever angelic choir was a unique responsibility bestowed upon Lucifer, and the third angel loved and took very good care of his holy duties. All thirteen angelic beings followed G.O.D.'s will, and orchestrated beautiful melodies of spiritual sounds of melodies, mixed with powerful electrical energies, heard all out through space. Music that helped stretch the illuminations of the heavens further into the darkness of the universe.

The melodious music was so beautiful to G.O.D.'s ears and to the Lord's Celestial Parents' attention as well, that Lucifer and the angels helped G.O.D. gain the Celestial Parents' approval to remain a superbly spiritual energy of light, existing and dominating in the darkness of the universal plains forever. Planetary glows known as stars were created through out G.O.D.'s territories. They created colorful star-belts, quasars, and hundreds of thousands of luminous points. Though the star-lights were a unique form of worship to G.O.D. and to the true Eternal-Ones, yet the Celestial Parents were not truly impressed.

After some eons had passed, G.O.D.'s-Parents were bored with their prodigy and were losing interest in the life of music and light that G.O.D. led throughout the universal plains. The Lord's Celestial Parents wanted more creativity in the universe, or if not, G.O.D. and Its creations would have to be extinguished from existence. Maybe, G.O.D. would not have been terminated, because the Celestial Parents adored G.O.D., but the Lord was in the adolescent years, and at this point of Its existence, It had to measure up to Their standards.

The point arrived that G.O.D. decided It had to please the Celestial Parents beyond magnitude, and so a new development in experimenting creativity came about concerning the original thirteen angels. It was an accomplishment that G.O.D. decided to be creative with them, test their limitations, and bring forth with great care a true unique creative angels. It wanted to be an experimenter through all Its creations, experiments that might bring consequences, but the Lord decided to involve Itself, to evolve with them. G.O.D. decided to test Its powers to a maximum, and had bestowed upon Its angels the capability to use their powerful, amazing abilities however they chose. Unexplored, untapped potential, volatile because of extremely energetic powers that could be utilized by any of them how they could choose to use. The angels limited imagination, was their weakness.

The Lord did this to impress Its Parents, but most of all, to see what choices would be made and how far and powerfully the angels would use their new, profound gifts of elemental nature and G.O.D. The Lord knew It was a calculated risk, due because, It shall always remain undefeated by any of Its creations. G.O.D. was safe in case of any retaliation by the thirteen originals, but that did not mean one of the angels would not try conquering over the Almighty One, have the opportunity arise. You see people, of all lives, passion of living, is what brings forth creativity.

Shortly after receiving their powers, all the angels had their unique six senses opened up beyond any comprehension, enabling them all to go beyond what they saw, touched, smelled, heard, perceived, and spoke in a language understandable to G.O.D. and to themselves. The thirteen had evolved, yet they had all remained in the same loyalty towards the Lord. They all later developed a seventh sense that enabled them to speak more profoundly and directly with G.O.D. It was a truly spiritual and soulful private conversations, without an audience of any kind, that they were all allowed to have.

Different body shapes, yet the same faces, still through pout the eons, each had a strong glow illuminating through them, but all thirteen had also began to change into different distinguishable personalities. With their profound powers, the original thirteen began to use their gifts to give thanks to their Lord and the Celestial Parents, but doing a little different from the norm. The heavens stretched further into the universe because of the positive action by all thirteen, for they did this in many ways, outside and inside the heavens. Lucifer and the angelic beings knew how to do this, and then they all decided how to impress G.O.D. and Its Celestial Parents for eternity. They were all going to truly show the unique Celestial Parents thanks, for enabling them to have the freedom of choosing their own way of creating and thinking to impress their unique Creators.

For the first time ever, all thirteen united their powers and created one of the biggest, most colorful stars in deep universal space. It was very huge sphere and shined so brightly with the whole spectrum of colors that it helped the angels to see and travel further into the universal darkness to spread G.O.D.'s energy through out the galaxies. G.O.D. was proud of this highly illuminating star that was the size of a very extremely huge supreme large planet. It shined through out most all of the shadowy dark corners of the enormous universe, its light reaching up to the clouds of the heaven. It was a proud achievement of the original thirteen angels, a gift from them to the universal masters, to the Gods. Millions of colorful shining stars had been created by all original thirteen, but after the creation of this beautiful, uniquely created solar star, the new spectrum light was their best commitment of love towards their Creator and his parents. After this huge new development, G.O.D. began to contemplate what could or would happen next.

Through the stages of eons, after much worshipping and work, most of the angels were awestruck when it came to the extent of their powers. Unfortunately one of them had no shame whatsoever in using them for personal purposes. Lucifer had learned how to manipulate his G.O.D. given powers very well. For through out the eons that passed, Lucifer had practiced privately, how to use his powers to his convenience, especially when he had created the first electric star-bolts in the universe. A power that could destroy the stars, as well as an angel. Some of the others, soon followed in the practice of creating other star-bolts, being launched around the universal heavens. Most of them were all soon evolving into; rebels.

G.O.D.'s right hand angel and chosen leader of the originals, decided that it wanted to be G.O.D. Lucifer did not hate the Lord – truly some of the angels, just did not feel equal in many ways. Fact was, for some odd reason, a part of this patron had felt it was actually being used. G.O.D. was not surprised, as It watched Lucifer with its powers, how manipulative and spiritually corrupting the angel was becoming.

Truth be told, was that some of Lucifer's fellow angels were changing as well as him. G.O.D., instead of stopping Lucifer, decided to lay back and analyzed this angel's plans. The Lord knew what would probably happen soon, for It purposely started this conflict to witness the personal choices by all Its angels, but G.O.D.'s very unpredictable.

Through the passing moments, on a constant basis Lucifer convinced most of the fellow angels that through the ages, for all their important works, they had received no true rewards from their Creator. Lucifer reasoned with them, convincing almost all, that they were deities, who did not deserve this treatment by their Lord, but rather they were better than and as the powerful G.O.D. Itself. Lucifer convinced them, "We have to evolve our unique holy-powers. To be beyond the Lord. For together united, It will not stand a chance." That with their unique qualities and abilities, they could rule over the heavenly universe. Worst of all, most of the angels wanted a new G.O.D., for they could no longer accept not seeing the actual true image of Lord, only just only feeling and bearing witness of Its cloudiness forms, G.O.D.'s miracles, and the Lord's domination.

Most of the angels wanted answers. Not Lucifer though, for the angel felt it had them all. Some of the angels, did not like the treatment of the Lord in the past, as of now most of them were beginning in disliking Its presence in the present. They were not even thanked by the Lord for their personal works of anymore, yet the Lord knew this was so frustrating to most of the originals. Most did not realize that their existence was the thanks given to them from G.O.D. for their complete obedience.

Some dared to ask G.O.D. pathetic questions. "My fellow angels, if we thirteen can bear witness with each other, why can we not see our Creator? Is It beyond our magnitudes to actually see our Lord's true image or are we not Its creation. Almost all of us thirteen agree on this terminology, dear Lord," said Lucifer and complained some of the angels.

After a long string of frustrating events by most of the angels, the time came when Lucifer and those twelve who followed, most willingly, but some not, thought themselves superior to G.O.D. Most of all of them and some pushed to do so, had decide to foolishly to cause a rebellion plan against the Almighty G.O.D. Trading and mixing their special powers with one another, the angels witnessed in time, after much convincing by each other and a very powerful plotting, that the order was soon to be done. To annihilate the Almighty One.

Soon reaching inside of the inner haven of heaven, all thirteen, some uncomprehendingly, but others impulsively, united all their powers together in one spiritual deviation. G.O.D.'s third, now ruthless angel had become a thug and a hostile boss. All the brothers now worked under his rules. Lucifer's qualities as a holy evolved principal-angel, were respected by most of the originals, because the angel had stretched its personal powers to equal the Lord's capacity. Due to the nature of the way the angels were created, they had all increased in many ways to become almost as powerfully strong as the Lord Itself, but in that process of spiritual growth, all the thirteen beings were united and mixed up, and became a frightening spiritual abomination of light and darkness mixed together, which impressed Lucifer, but saddened the Almighty Lord.

This horrible, dark, spiritual creature was a very large opponent and had multiple sparkles of black and white lightning stuck around its glowing, and yet, colorful body. It looked like a walking star. It had a strong, colorful, illuminating light as a face, and it roared more strongly than thunder, or any sound ever made by any of the individual angels. It had massive strength, and had unique powers of light that could disintegrate any star ever created by them, to ashes. The original angels had increased to be a very formidable foe to the Lord in Its own kingdom.

For the first time in their eternal lives, these angels became unholy, spiritual deviants. Together as one, they stepped in and tried to claim the universal heaven as their own. They all committed a spiritual atrocity. After all of the retaliation and anger it had displayed with its G.O.D. given powers, the angelic abomination destroyed most of the foundation of the universal heavens and the stars they had all mostly created. The thirteen angels knew that their powers were strong enough to rival G.O.D., and they were, yet, most of them had foolishly or purposely forgotten who truly created them.

After declaring war, they thought they had won their first battle by nearly destroying all they had created, leaving the universal plains in almost near darkness. They then destroyed the largest star ever created. However it was not going to be as simple as they thought to destroy G.O.D. the same way. The action of the angels angered G.O.D., but excited the Celestial Parents. The war had escalated. After multiple assaults of retaliation and an unorthodox onslaught, all thirteen were soon frustrated and caught. They found themselves at the mercy of a new dark, cloudy image of the Lord. It had formed a black cloud that was sparkling and erupting all around in a wide variety of sizes of thunderous and very harsh lightning currents. The more the angels retaliated, the more shocking pain they felt as one, for G.O.D. thwarted all their hateful aggressions against all of them. Though the Lord knew that some of the angels were not guilty of the recent actions against It, yet they too paid the consequences.

The Lord was beyond angered. These original angels had lost their piety, so G.O.D. decided that new angelic warriors had to be produced to emerge into the battle. These latter counterparts of the originals, were now the new thirteen perfect angels known as the; archangels of G.O.D. These Archangels cast out the originals, into the outer-depths of the inner heavenly universe. After their defeat, G.O.D. was so upset with the originals that the Lord decided the punishment for treachery was a whole spiritual soul separation from each other, but not from the Creator.

Disappointed, G.O.D. ripped Lucifer and the fellow angelic beings' spiritual souls apart and they became solid beings, all of them going through a holy metamorphosis. All the originals now felt and knew that they could never defeat G.O.D. eternally forever. For no matter how powerful they thought they were, G.O.D. would always show all that It is more almighty than any of Its creations.

All the originals were sent to a place where none could reach or talk to one another, for they would remain to live dormant and apart from each other, living out in the universe, until G.O.D. decided what to do with them. All thirteen, those who were the corruptors and those angels who had become corrupted, were going to be taken care of by G.O.D., in due process of eons of time.

As for Lucifer, this angel was going to be the last failure. New angels now had emerge above the normal creation, and G.O.D. acknowledged and thanked Its new Archangels. It had magically placed different facial appearances upon them, faces that the originals would have eventually looked like, had they not disobeyed. These unique archangels of the Lord were the new protectors of the heavenly universe. They were at the Lord's will to love, protect, and holy serve the Almighty and follow It through out everywhere eternally.

G.O.D. cast all the original angels to remain afloat into the deepest, darkness of space for many eons to come, with very large distances from each other, where none could contact another for many ages to come.

As the originals were slumbering with nightmarish thoughts, the Lord extinguished any past works left by them undestroyed. Many starlights created by the original angels that remained after the war, were turned into dust, as the previous ones. Interesting enough, G.O.D. kept the huge star's dust, reconstructed it, and kept it in the middle of the universe, but It had extinguished the star's energy for the time being. The star was left a huge, colorless and odorless ball of hard dirt for a long time.

As the Archangels help create a new unique utopia, the general leader of the Archangels is known as Mialchael. G.O.D. had created this Archangel in the original image of Lucifer, but he bore the first exclusive resemblance to an original image of the first ever human face. Smooth and yet very strong was his skin, no rough edges, which confined his golden holy energy within. His nose was thin and his eyes were a greenish-blue with a mild-gleam to them. His long, golden-brown hair was flowing loosely upon the universal atmosphere. He bore wings made of metallic feathers, and wore no clothing, the powerful magic that he could utilize, covered and protected him telekinetically, and it was beyond unique, controlled by him, but commanded by G.O.D. A leader for many eons, G.O.D. made Mialchael Its right-hand man. It was pronounced in heaven that Mialchael was actually the first, perfect, illuminating angel, who never betrayed G.O.D.

As for Lucifer and all of the original angels, they remained dormant out and about in the universe, some expecting to be awoken once again. No longer holy angels, all thirteen slept for a long time while awaiting their fates.

The long multitude of eons had passed. Then the time came when the Creator-Master of all elements gave life and light once again to the universe, for the Sun was born. Where once the largest star in the universe stood, the largest illuminations sphere was created by the originals, now the Sun had taken its place and flamed on all over the huge ball of dirt. The Lord had given the light again upon the darkness of the universal plains, and G.O.D. once again blissfully shined upon the defiant angels.

As the Sun flourished all through the now original angel's immortal, yet solid bodies, for the first time since their banishment, Lucifer and all the angelic beings, began to feel their essence awakening once again. The Sun was a blessing for Lucifer and the originals. As the light radiation had awakened all thirteen original angels, it had given them a sort of limited vigor. All original angels who had disobeyed G.O.D., had awoken and observed their surroundings, and they could partially see each other across the great distances of space that spread them apart. The light of the Sun was their only chance to see anything surrounding them. Many were frightened, but some of them were able to see an image of G.O.D., but the Lord was still not happy or forgiving with them.

All thirteen brothers were no longer feeling their own spiritual souls, all they felt was an extensive shell, with an emptiness within. Though they were all now immortal, yet solid beings, most of them did not even know it. The originals were not able to move much, feel, or communicate with one another, and none of them knew what kind of punishment awaited them. All they could do was remain in space, pray and wait. Thus far, some prayed to be forgiven, but still some remained despising their Creator. Though they knew, the Lord was watching, hearing, and analyzing.

After a long time out and in the heavens, G.O.D. finally spoke to Lucifer and to all the original angelic beings at the same time. The Lord showed them the different bodies and the spiritual soul essences they now possessed. It was very horrible, for the bodies of the original thirteen angels were all distorted and heavily restrained in a very grotesque format, due to their defiance against the Almighty. All their spiritual souls were trapped in special confinements inside the heavens. No longer were they G.O.D.'s holy angels, yet, the Lord decided to do something evolutionally interesting with all of the originals.

Concentrating only on G.O.D.'s third angelic creation, and once favorite holy leader, It changed Lucifer into a horrendous human looking abomination. For Lucifer was given three black eyes, with one of the eye's that was accursed on the top of his forehead, a huge crooked nose, and chapped brownish-black lips, that chipped off bits of skin as he moved and would rubbed them. The Lord also gave Lucifer extremely, huge, long, horns, which formed out in a twirling manner and were thirteen inches long — coming out of his forehead. His entire body looked similar to that of a person with leprosy, and his skin had a dead, pale look to it. He possessed large hooves for feet. Between his legs he possessed a very long tail that dangled and dripped constantly out a an unknown fluid. The worse part of this transformation, was that the third angel was now turned into a horrible looking male or man?!

As part of his punishment, Lucifer remained floating outside in the black universal plains, lost, with no clue of what was to befall him. Even in this unpleasant situation though, Lucifer showed no signs of wanting forgiveness, as he would constantly blaspheme against G.O.D. inside his wicked mind. For the true fate of the other twelve angels is not important for this moment, but his existence is.

After the first punishment towards all of them had been administered, the Lord wanted to give them a chance once again. As always G.O.D. is love, and decided that Lucifer and the originals had a right once again, to re-enter the heavens. To earn their way back in, was to admit their love and loyalty to G.O.D. Some of the original brothers wanted back in, but some did not. Not yet, Lucifer's mind was made up, so his pathetic plot against the Lord continued, but it also brought about a whole new genesis of living. The life that G.O.D. permitted Lucifer to have at this point of his existence, had made him ask, "Why...my Lord...why...? You are the One who gave us free-will! Or did You not...? So why do You condemn us for our choices? Why...?"

G.O.D. showed him why, as It spoke to them, "I have given you all multiple chances to use your powers for marvelous creativity. For the good of the heavens, My Family, and Me, yet, you have all persuaded yourselves to do the contrary. Yes, I know there are some of you who are repenting as I speak. However, until all of you ask for forgiveness as one, none of you shall enter My heavens ever again separately."

Though G.O.D. understood that not all of the angels were complicit in the third angel's plot against the heavenly universe, they were still found to be associated with Lucifer's idea for domination over the Lord, one way or another. If given the chance again, they would probably attack the Lord again. A dominating plan that had failed in the past and now led them to this point in their pitiful existence. All were to be incarcerated in space indefinitely for their betrayal.

“Why are we all being punished the same way, at the same time, with no compassion? Why? Why my Lord? Why...?” violently asked Lucifer. In retaliation for the way he was being treated, Lucifer ignorantly tried to cast his G.O.D. given powers against his Creator with much hatred, but he failed. In fact, the extraordinary powers that the originals used to defy G.O.D. with began to turn against him, and unholy magic was performed, something never seen or felt before by Lucifer. His powers no longer obeyed his command. The Lord had seized control. From his fingers, when he tried to use his powers, came out dry dirt, as it did from his blasphemous mouth. G.O.D. turned against Lucifer, as he had also done upon the Lord. Dirt was what he now had as powers. Lucifer had failed to realize that the Lord had been, is, and shall always be in full control throughout eternity.

As Lucifer continued through each passing moment to curse against the true holy Almighty Lord, immeasurable amounts of dirt began to surround him. G.O.D. then made a decision; to creatively harden the dirt into rocks and stones, and had decided to surround Lucifer completely in a sphere of these rocks, stones, and dirt, with no view upon space. In a sort of solitary stone circle, keeping within its walls of dirt, Lucifer was trapped floating in the darkness, stuck inside a huge sphere made of hard dirt, with nothing inside of it, while it was floating outside within the universe. G.O.D. then made a high tower of stacks of dirt that had a long skinny hollow tube, that permitted Lucifer to see out in the universe. The large sphere had a long tower connected that rotated it around the Sun. The pipeline tower was huge and narrow and rotated with Lucifer's prison around the Sun, permitting him to see out in space, but not be able to escape. At those moments in the eon of life, he could not fly through the tube anyways, not as of yet.

In one moment in that era, the dirt sphere, stopped rotating. G.O.D. then decided to create and lay down a new environment, using the powers of the elements, the Lord built a glossy light bluish-greenish marble limestone surface, with streaks of other light colors added to it, as well as a liquify substance layer that maintain within the marble floor, down to the middle of the pipe-line tower, that was connected to the sphere.

After eons of tweaking, the now crystalized floor, with liquid within it; which was water, it was a very beautiful and smooth platform, about the size of a very large frozen lake. When the Sun's rays shined upon it, it glistened and shined variantly in many colors. Lucifer was then released from his previous confinement, and placed to this new environment to enjoy.

All around the platform was the view and environment of deep space, the Sun, the distant stars, and the long view of his other twelve brothers, layer within their own personal foundations, a floating in the dark inner-space.

Unfortunately, the new rebuilt heaven was far away, but this place now, he knew meant freedom for him. The materials that consisted in that oval platform was made of three of the basic elements, and it was a gift for Lucifer, for G.O.D. decided.

"Do you like your new home My son?" asked the Lord.

"Yes, my Lord. My Creator, I am content. For I find this placement of a creation beyond your uniqueness," responded Lucifer calmly.

"Good. You see the liquid substance underneath feet?" asked G.O.D.

"Yes. What is it?" asked Lucifer.

"It is a gift that you must earn. I want you to enjoy this place and when I come back we shall discuss your return back to heaven or maybe you can have your own personal nirvana. Until then, I want you to earn the liquid substance below your feet. It is very important you do so. I shall hear your prayers," G.O.D.'s voice suddenly faded away.

As the eons passed, on the platform, Lucifer was allowed some freedom, but he was required to worship G.O.D. once again to remain free. While living on top of the platform, he had formed a strong union with G.O.D. as a partner, and G.O.D. reconsidered truly welcoming him back again to the universal heavens, but only if the faithful belief was to remain true. The Lord kept Its promises to Lucifer. Regardless of his appearance and his new anatomy, he would also have an angelic female mate, and though he did not understand the importance of feminine companionship yet, he would later see its importance in life. He could be the king of this place. The truth was that Lucifer found the oval platform beautiful, but he wanted more. So he decided he would rule over it somehow, for like all the things before, he wanted to control. He continued to tell G.O.D. that he worshipped the Almighty One and enjoyed this new home, but the Lord knew the truth.

Then in a moment in his life, G.O.D. asked Lucifer, "My angel... this is not a fortress or a sphere. It is both. For I call this a planet. It is made with My elements and I have created it as a gift for you. Are you not pleased My angelic creation?"

"Yes Master, I am happy," answered Lucifer.

"Then who do You worship?" asked the Lord.

"You my Lord. You, only You," cynically answered Lucifer.

"Why Lucifer...? Why do you dare to continue to speak to Me with such a tone and lies? Have you forgotten that I created you and that all of your existence belongs to Me? Once again you lie to Me Lucifer, but I love you, and I shall grant you an opportunity to harmonize your self to Me once again. You shall stay and I shall return. Be prepared with a proper response when we speak again, for your own sake,” commanded the almighty Lord.

Lucifer was left alone for a short period on the oval platform planet, and he was given the chance to enjoy his freedom of flying, running, but he would constantly try to break in through the middle of the platform. He had no clue of what the liquid substance was, but every chance he could, he would try to carve with his nails in the very exact middle of the planet's floor, to try and reach the liquid substance underneath the hard ground, but would always fail. No matter how hard he would use his limited powers against the ground, he never succeeded in feeling or learning what the fluid was. His powers were useless, but his greed was strong, and wanted the unique liquefied substance at whatever cost. He thought the worshiping of G.O.D. throughout the eons would ease his mind and get him into the liquid, but it did not. The fact was that hate, despair, and greed still dwelled within in him, and the Lord knew this, so Lucifer was never given the chance to feel and taste the liquid substance under the ground.

The Lord's moments of denial brought about Lucifer's decision to continue to fuel his hatred with anger and self-pity, for now wanting, but yet never experiencing the advantages of water. Through the eons that progressed in space, there were moments in time where Lucifer would decide to violently cast his powers upon the gifts of G.O.D. Unlike before, dry dirt was not coming out of his fingernails or his mouth, but wet mud was expelled. The Lord was watching and G.O.D. knew he was not content, and though the third angel was alone and far away from his brothers, he foolishly plotted against the Creator. He angrily filled up the oval platform with a lot of mud, a sort of an act of tantrum.

The Lord gave time to Lucifer enjoy himself, for he had love the change in his environment in many ways, but now It just got tired of it. Lucifer thought he was more creative and inventive than G.O.D., especially when he built tons of mountainous amounts of mud all around the oval platform. Then the moment of truth arrived.

The Lord spoke upon him, “Lucifer...? Oh My lucid angel, what have you done? Look at all of this mess. Fine, very well. If you are content, I Am not. My question still remains the same. Are you going to join Me in your rightful position? Have you repented? Are you ready to return to Me? I am awaiting your answer now. I demand to know this instant,” said the almighty G.O.D.

“Of course My Lord, I worship you my Creator. Only You,” cynically said Lucifer, as he bowed down upon one of the many images of a cloudy, energetic Almighty One. The Lord knew the truth though. Lucifer wanted more than to be in the heavens — he wanted to be worshiped by all. He wanted full control of everything that existed around him. He inwardly cursed the Lord, as he acted otherwise and hypocritically claimed to worship G.O.D.

Thinking of knowing and understanding G.O.D.'s true feelings, with the anger brewing within him, he suddenly and impulsively began to attack one of the many cloudy images of G.O.D. Again, how futile. Every time Lucifer would speak and curse G.O.D., mud would come out of his mouth and hands. So much mud was now lying all around the once shiny oval platform, that Lucifer was surrounded all down and up in it.

The Lord was upset, but at that point, G.O.D. decided to get very creative. Tired of Lucifer's disrespect, G.O.D. was past angry, so It used the elements against Lucifer. With Its mighty power, the Lord violently picked up and pushed Lucifer straight through the middle of the oval platform, causing a huge shattering hole in the middle of it. Suddenly, an intense fountain of water began to emerge and sprout through the shattered platform. Never truly feeling water until now, Lucifer felt it as he was drowning, while falling through stacks of very hard stones and soil, he did not enjoy the torture. All he could do was to scream in agony, with fire, water, air, and mud mixed up, following him down the pipeline hole. G.O.D. then sent him back under the planet's confinement, his original cell, but it was a different incarceration awaiting Lucifer. G.O.D. decided to change the stone circle, into the shape of a box made of different dark colored dirt, rocks, and stones. So Lucifer went from living in a floating stone sphere, to a now walkable stone box. G.O.D. decided to get more creative though. After much air, soil, water, and fire pressure was worked by the Lord, large stacks of dirt and stones arose and were placed all over, Lucifer's cell, also hundreds of bars of fire now surrounded the box.

For his constant disobedience, G.O.D. left Lucifer's immortal undying body, and held it in the box in limbo, till It decided what It was going to do with him. Lucifer able to walk, still in mild darkness, scared of the rumbling, attempted to escape, but he could not flee through the fire bars or break the walls of the hard dirt floor, or fly up through pipeline tunnel above him, so he knew he was still trapped. All he could do was blaspheme and wait. Through out the course of his tantrum, Lucifer could only imagine what G.O.D. was doing or probably going to do.

On top of the stacked stone tower, the pipeline that lay over the confinement of the third angel, on the solid oval shaped platform that had been created and levitated was now going to be transformed. Through the eons, the element of fire, water, air, and soil were all created around different periods of G.O.D.'s life, all due to the original angels disobedience against It, now they were going to be used for a unique universal evolution.

On top, as G.O.D. witnessed the mess of mud and water spewing out of the huge hole torn within the oval platform, the Lord was going to do something about it. With the powers all the elements, G.O.D. was going to build beauty around ugliness. For the Lord had begun the creation of a planet for its own pleasures, and at the same time a new chance for Lucifer, to be freed again. The genesis of the Earth started.

Beginning with the mud, the Lord separated the moisture from the dirt and created the mists, fogs, and clouds. As the thunder and lightning struck upon the large oval platform, deep craters formed. Those craters were then filled with an array of clear and colorful waters. Those waters had become deep oceans, seas, rivers, lakes, and ponds. The same waters washed away all of Lucifer's mud spots.

Around the platform and within, stacks of hard dirt, very smooth muddy layers, and strange plant lives were emerging. The stacks of mounds of dirt were mixed, with fire, water, and the air, that became huge mountains, various hills, smooth dirt, thick mud, and soft sands. The Lord then permitted the Sun's rays to illuminate through the clouds, keeping the planet well lit, while the same cloud air remained the world sort of dry and cool. Out of the hard and soft dirt, plus the mud, greenish-bluish, some reddish-yellowish plants, grass, shrubs, vines, and bushes came to grow, many were of different colors. The water and air provided the moisture and coolness that this new planet Earth needed to remain in a normal proper state of life. All its fruits and vegetation were also growing naturally in many different ways. Still, something was missing.

As all this was happening, the eons passed and G.O.D. wanted security on the planet, for the first early stages of Earth had just been created, for nature was flourishing. Soon after all was done, a very huge platinum-golden, metallic tree trunk came to arise over on top of the hole, where Lucifer had been cast through, seizing over the spring of running smooth, cold water.

As G.O.D.'s moments progressed, the many different plants that had been created since the beginning, now had entwined themselves around this superb, special, shiny metallic tree. The outside of this very hard goldish-platinum wonder was made of different special metals and steels, but within its hard bark laid a soft, white bole, roots, branches, trunk, and a spiritual soul of light that was actually trapped within the tree. After being trapped since the birth of the tree, Lucifer's spiritual soul wanted to come out, but not precisely yet.

Through time, the tree grew extremely large, and the first ever huge cotyledon grew out of it. The leaves of the tree were as large as a boulder. Through the gentle times on Earth, the huge metallic tree, its branches, and its leaves had grown so large that it ascended far into the clouds, thousands of feet within the skies, into the smooth, cloudy, windy air of the planet. It was up in those clouds that the tree and its first fruits grew — the fruits of elemental wisdom. Deep within the Earth's smooth soil, the veins of the vines and roots of this sacred tree descended for miles down the stone pipeline, reaching to the middle of the Earth, to the hole in Lucifer's cage. It did not stop there, but the roots and branches of the tree extended through every surface and corner of the newly remodeled Earth. It was an Earth unlike any ever seen.

At nighttime, the tree would glow in the dark, shining through the fields of plantations of the new planet Earth. As the tree began to flourish, it shadowed the Sun's rays upon most of the Earth. It was the truly unique essence of G.O.D.'s third angel's spiritual soul that remained confined.

For as the good, true, faithful, spiritual soul of Lucifer was trapped within the special tree of G.O.D., it was ready to be given back to him, if he chose to truly repent for his defiance.

The eons passed, the metallic platinum tree, now with gold streaks in it, had remained covering the darkish wet hole through which Lucifer had been cast through. G.O.D. has always represented compassion, so as Lucifer chose to try to lie and hate G.O.D., the Lord did not speak to him for some time and left him secluded in confinement. Lucifer did not want his goodness back or to listen to the Lord, for he cursed everyone, including the original angels. For now his immortal body was trapped and imprisoned inside the dirt box, in the middle of the new planet, while his spiritual soul, was trapped in the platinum tree. His body did not need to eat, drink, or rest, but sustained itself on feelings of anger, hatred, and deceitful revenge.

Through out the moments in space, the Sun rays of glimmering light shined through the first ever tree, reaching the platform of the Earth. The Sun shined so far, reaching the stone pipeline, which became very dry and empty, yet within it, vines and roots were all stuck in its walls. The line-hole reached the top and an exit upon Earth's lands, were the first land were open. Lucifer knew this. He thought he could have a chance to claim his spiritual soul, if he could escape. Fortunately, he could not fly at the moment and get to it, so he was left alone with his dark memories for a very long time. Pacing back and forth, lost in agony within his cell, until G.O.D. decided what to do with him, Lucifer actually wept. Instead of praying or changing his ways though, his blasphemies continued against the Lord and all the angels of the heavenly universe. Plus, mud was everywhere inside the box and soon it started to leak out through the walls of his confinement, into space.

Up above, the platinum tree, whose leaves glistened in the rays of the Sun, had now borne seven different soft, yet metallic looking fruits, and around it, patches of bushes of five different vegetables had emerged. These fruits and vegetables were untouchable and very special. For they would be available someday to chosen people, protectors, and creators on the Earth to enjoy.

Through out the eons, the planet went through its process of evolution. On the surface, G.O.D. began expanding water, soil, air, and fire. Again, all four elements helped form larger mountains, more profound oceans, rivers, lakes, ponds, and plenty of fruits and vegetation grew all around the different trees, shrubs, vines, and patches of strange colorful fields. None of the fruits on land that appeared though, were like the ones in the platinum tree. The third original angel did not know of the forthcoming secrets of the tree, or many other hidden agendas to come, but the Lord did. G.O.D. took a long time to create this beautiful Earth, but, no persons or animals lived on it for long eons, except for Lucifer who was trapped in the middle of the planet. The Earth was at a virgin stage in its life at this point, and it was very clean and unique, not knowing what awaited it.

After many eons trapped inside a dirt box of a cell, G.O.D. gave Lucifer the chance once again, to choose to either love or hate. If he chose love he would receive many benefits and would be able to walk on top of the planet once again. "So what is your answer my creation?" asked G.O.D. "I choose to love. I will follow once again my Lord, and I will enter heaven as a new angel, said the third ever created angel."

Again, the Lord was not a fool, for G.O.D. knew Lucifer said one thing, but he felt another. G.O.D. kept quiet though, and continued to give Lucifer the chance to step foot on the new beautiful Earth. As he did, the angel was impressed. The platform was completely changed from when he was last there. It was different than what he had been accustomed to see. He liked it and he chose to give it a try, under his ways of thinking.

After a long while being free to roam, he began to enjoy his freedom to the fullest, while drinking the smooth waters, discovering the ability of flying through the air, running with massive speed throughout the distant lands, and actually eating different fruits and vegetables from the platinum tree. He would devour them fast, as if he'd never eaten. G.O.D. enjoyed watching his angelic son in such happiness. Things he had never gotten to do in any environment, were done here. He was also told, if he would behave, he would not only receive his spiritual soul back, he would also have a female mate to join him and would get to be a king with her, as she his queen. Lucifer was still unclear about the definition of the word mate. With all of these gifts from the Lord, instead of being grateful, a greater part within him wanted a change in the environment. Truly after a while, he found the Earth repulsive looking, and began to mentally curse the beauty of the environment. Lucifer really did not want to be free on top of the soft and hard land of soil, the high mountains, smooth air, and cool waters, for too long. He actually missed his personal haven-pen in the middle of the planet. All because he could not rule over the elements or his spiritual soul above. Knowing it was inches away from his grasp, he could not attach himself to the spiritual soul trapped within the metallic-tree. The one G.O.D.; had to take away.

Still, he continued to enjoy the new Earth for a long time, without cursing G.O.D., but nor would he show much praise to the Lord either. After a long while though, privileges were bestowed upon the third angel by G.O.D. once again. Lucifer began to practice holy magic and entertain the Lord again. Fortunately, the Lord knew what his intentions were in the long run, but It awaited.

Then once the moment arrived again, when his inner evil, mixed with a practice of strongly unique elemental powerful energy — Lucifer came loose against G.O.D. He faced the platinum tree and he cursed It, demanding with anger and violence that his spiritual soul be returned to him by The Creator. When he impulsively spat out of his mouth and shot from his fingertips, a bunch of twirly worms on the shiny tree were formed from his person now. In a very harsh, violent way, he did not know what idea he had formed, but G.O.D. did. G.O.D. had enough though, so within moments, he was accursed and sent back through the darkish pipeline hole, savagely shoved to his newly remodeled home in the middle of the Earth.

When It appeared before him, Lucifer was not scared, but impressed as he noticed the old box confinement was rearranged this time around — G.O.D. had redesigned it for him. He deserved a stronger discipline, and a limited view, so, Lucifer's vision was purposely distorted by the Lord. So sight into the universal plains was still available, but it was significantly still blocked off by bars of fire and terrible vision. Hundreds of bars ovally surrounded the walls of his new confinement, but the flames were only inches away from Lucifer's immortal body, and his feet were now stuck walking on constant boiling water. He would inwardly suffer of electrical currents of static coursing throughout the water and veins of his body causing agonizing pain. When he was allowed to stand on a stone in the middle of the fire cage, the stepping on thin rock spikes, was an enjoyable pain to be favored in different futuristic moments in time soon to come, and he laughed at his own suffering. As he could constantly feel the intense electrical heat upon his deformed skin, he enjoyed the view out in space, from within behind the flaming the bars of his new confinement. Then he looked upon the hole on the ceiling with a dim light coming out of it, and he knew where it led, he knew he could not reach there.

As he stared upon the universe, and then at the cloudy image of G.O.D., he asked, "Why did you dare send me back here again my Lord? Why do you punish me?"

"Because your words say one thing, but your mind and heart mean another. Which means that you mean very little to Me or

My family. For now Lucifer, I am done with you, so do not speak to Me anymore, for you have dishonored our relationship. I am very dismayed with you,” spoke harshly the Almighty G.O.D.

At that point, the Lord did not want to hear any more lies, so as Lucifer tried to speak in his own defense, suddenly live black worms began to crawl out of his deformed mouth. The more he tried to justify his actions towards G.O.D., the more worms came out.

As Lucifer continued to try cursing the Lord with his powers, more worms emerged from his devious fingers as well. This curse was very painful, but through time, Lucifer came to enjoyed it.

Through the eons, he would giggle, as piles of worms had all began mounting within his cell, and he would play with them, throw them all around, eat them, and burn them on the bars. The more evilly he blasphemed the Lord through time, the more worms filled his confinement. So many worms emerged from his body, to a point where the worms reached the vines, roots, veins of the tree, and crawled out through the deep stone pipeline hole that the platinum tree covered.

Through out the early eons of Earth, these worms crawled out of Lucifer's cage and worked their way through the hard platforms of stone dirt, through the hollow hole, crawling, and creeping out through the vines and roots of the platinum tree, onto the surface. As they came out of the metallic tree, through the phases of Earth's time, the planet became inhabited and populated with hundreds of thousands of worms, who roamed freely, enjoying what the Earth had to offer them. Through stages of life, as these worms emerged, even the platinum tree could truly feel Lucifer's hatred upon G.O.D.'s goodness.

As for Lucifer, he remained aggressive, disobedient, and a very deviously cynical immortal. He was now on a path of pure evil and most of the worms he helped create were his puppets. He created many largely hideous versions and sent them through the tunnel that lead up to Earth. The furious angel was at a crossroads in his life, for he still had feelings for the Lord, plus a mild respect, but he still wanted control over the holy power. While in his confinement, his immortal body was in conversion, with his spiritual soul that was incarcerated within the tree. Lucifer, weak at the time, was not realizing he was slowly and completely losing his commune with his true spiritual soul within the tree, for he continued to mentally and emotionally betray G.O.D., the Lord was always truly aware of everything now occurring.

As the eons passed, the dark angel fell into a deep, emotional depression, with his loss of intimacy with the worms, G.O.D., or himself. A depression turned to anger, so he had bi-polar issues, schizophrenia, and suicidal tendencies. Still he was not stupid at all, for he knew the Lord had a plan and he was a part of it, but for the first time ever, he truly felt weak, because he could not change G.O.D.'s universal plans to his convenience. Unfortunately, while he awaited, he continued blaspheming, creating, and manipulating the worms. As for the above worms, G.O.D. decided to re-create them into separate anatomy, into a male and female. They were still controlled by Lucifer, but by the Creator as well.

As the ages progressed, while passing and exiting out from within the tree, the worms of all sizes absorbed the aura of lightness that reflected from Lucifer's trapped spiritual soul. Crawling out to the surface, certain worms had changed through the ages to a wide variety of colors and even superb energetic worms. In a point of moment in time, with the powers of all the existing four elements, G.O.D. came up with an idea and created a whole different unimaginable species out from the worms.

Using the extraordinary powers of all elements, the Lord evolved the worms through out the ages, and all unimaginable classes of unique insects, amphibians, reptiles, fowls, and mammals, to a wide variety of estranged animals were created. There were even priority elemental animals that were rare animals which could only live in a certain elemental environments, plus hundreds of different types of animalistic species, including unique prehistoric creatures. Until finally, the apes and over half a million different other species of creatures were created and born. Millions of different animals roamed the Earth. The planet was receiving very unique forms of life due to Lucifer's constant sins and the Lord's creativity — it was multiplying in various types of fruit, vegetation, and animalistic reproduction.

For through out the eons, here, as in the universe, the Lord experimented with the elements in many different ways and used Its unique energies to evolve these animals. Later in this new era of life, after a long time experimenting, the Lord got another idea — the creation and appearance of the first humans on Earth occurred. People were born similar in the shape of Lucifer's body form, with different types of faces. The Lord created the first wave of humanity with some forms of physical changes — the prehistoric age flourished. Again, manipulated by Lucifer, but completely controlled by G.O.D.

As for the rest of the original twelve angels, they are not as important as Lucifer to the conceptual evolution of the Earth. Exactly though, just like Lucifer, they all remain trapped in the constellations of space, within the new arising planets, to deal with their own personal punishments.

The creations by G.O.D., the existence of the universal planets, and the heavens, truly impressed the Celestial Parents. They had truly witness through the eons, how Their unique Prodigy's tenacity, creativity, and meticulous inner abilities flourished intensely. G.O.D. had truly spread the holiness of the vitality and power of the light through out the darkness of inner, deep space, regardless of all the horrible tribulations that had been experienced. This was just the beginning though.

Evolution Chapter 2

The Birth and Formation of the Perfect Man and Woman

s G.O.D.'s love was available through the eons, so Lucifer's works were done through the ages. It did not matter where he was, for he had developed and could telepathically gain control over most of the worms that had emerged while cursing G.O.D. The worms were coming out of his immortal body, so the development of the first wave of humanity was altered by his wickedness, almost from the beginning. The first version of extremely early prehistoric humanity was created in a moment in time when the Lord had finally had equally disguised Himself as a powerful, colorful cloud, and began to alter the worms, which he mixed with the sacred elements. It created within the elemental powers species, a different kinds of animals, beasts, and creatures. It was outstanding what the Master of Deities had created thoroughly at this time. It took long moments of tweaking and modifications on the evolution of wildlife species, the pre-humans that were shortly walking upon the Earth, and the angel that tried to rule it. For the new first humans were divided as man and woman with virile personification. They were very hairy all through their bulky bodies, most had large heads, different shapes of thick noses and lips, huge eyes of different colors, and they walked in a crouching manner. They lived in caves or in the forests, and jungles. Though they did not know the difference between man and woman, most of them perceived what sex was, but did not understand or know how to deal with the love and the birth process behind it. The stagnant ages of the first ever cave people were very dirty, disgusting, and unfortunately, brutality was a way of life. For others who were born and raised in the environment, they were thought of differently, for they made brutality and pain a sort of life style, for there were many that enjoyed watching others suffer from violent aggression. As one began life in the prehistoric era, there was no telling when and how their life could end.

After much good and bad discoveries within tribes, the Neanderthals the earliest inferior version of a near perfect humanity, before their successors the Cro-Magnons came to rise, danger was applicable to everything and everyone. From animals that would devour them, to slipping off dangerous cliffs, mountains, holes, quicksand, or drowning in deep waters, there were plenty of harmful ways cave people could die. Additionally one could die from an attack from one's own tribe or other clans. It was astonishing the way G.O.D. brought forth the new version of humanity. Still, with a lack of knowledge in the belief in the holy faith, death was constantly seen and felt

While millions of ancestral Paleolithic humanity came forth to help the early process of evolution, hundreds of thousands died trying to stop the evolutionary process, due to their own personal hatred against each other, or other different issues. Humanity continued to evolve through the eons though, for not even Lucifer's wicked ways could stop the changes soon to arrive in the lives of many worms of life on Earth.

The Cro-Magnon humanity, were an early distinguished, another form of different class of humans; that were thick bulk skin, whitish or dark beige look upon them, hairy bodies, except for most of their faces, and yet bodily strong, almost all of them were raised to walk in a crouched position, but some actually walked almost straight. They were also very flat nosed, thick lipped, wide eyed, and a bit more smarter as hunters and tribe leaders. Mostly dingy looking, some were even afraid of the water, and didn't know how to utilize It. Almost like their descendants, the Cro-Magnons, brain thoughts, were differences and minimal.

Through the years, all their flaws, the cave people exactly, learned the importance of being clean, breeding, making homes in caves, and being able to stand upright and firm. Learning was limited to the cave people though, especially in the area of spoken communication. Only body language and taunts, followed by screams, comprised the basic language — for the first version of humanity.

The native tongue involved limited linguistic and artistic skills communicated by the physically aggressive cave people. Thanks to G.O.D., the cave people evolved through the eons of time, but due to their curiousness, many caught diseases such as leprosy and other types of sickness. There were those born more deformed than most. Surviving, growing up to adulthood, no one really knew who was good or evil, for anybody or anything could hurt or kill you, even those that gave birth to you.

Evolving through the ages of time, the Neanderthals and Cro-Magnons became great hunters, as well as gatherers of fruits, grass, vegetables, vines, acres of the lands, and many more different subjects. Though they had no name for most of the items that they would gather, they eventually figured what could be used for their benefit and what could not. They had learned through the stages of time to trust and work together through the harsh and dangerous moments of life and what occur around them in nature. Most of them would work together with their own version; of what their G.O.D. would be. They would all gather whatever food together to survive. If someone was sick or deformed more than the normal, they were considered outcast. Thousands died due to the spread of undiscovered diseases, famine, battles, even wars among the tribes and clans, and hundreds of other threatening occurrences, so caution was learned and considered by the smarter and elderly cave people.

When G.O.D. had begun and created the first wave of humans in the early Earth years, it was very astonishing what had been done with people, and the many monstrous abominations that also came to life. As millions of different creatures and as a wide variety of dinosaurs roamed the ground of the Earth, the unorthodox life was becoming creatively unimaginable.

Disguised as a cloud of different colors, G.O.D. showed the cave-persons the way to realize the importance of uniting as one, and showing compassion to one another. The Lord clarified, to the Cro-Magnons and the Neanderthals, through the It's prehistoric-futuristic works that together united them, they all could survive their punishments to come together as one, but alone they were as good as dead.

The Lord had also soon proceed to show the cave people the discovery and power of the Sun, plus how It helped them to discover warmth and even start and use fire for many situations. The latterly of the cave people, also thought about the cold snowy ice, and how to use the freezing environment for their advantage.

After the special communication by G.O.D. to all the cave people around the world, the Lord was now respected as unique Omen to the serve and protect of the cave people, for that is what they really wanted. One that demanded their worship and respect, when offer was present it, in many ways. So soon many ancient interpretations or drawings were done by the cave people as a worship to G.O.D.

The Lord told all to love each other, and be ready, for It would come back to see them again. Almost all understood what the Creator spoke at that moment in time, but very few made a change.

Through the following Moons and Suns, that passed, different breeds of cave people, mixed up with different tribes or clan. This creativity in human evolution survived with instinct, brutality, and a lot of struggling of the imagination. The population was scattered around the whole Earth, in different clans and tribes. They did not know it, but they were inferior humans created by the Lord, as experiments of early human civilization, preparing for a new-version of humanity to come.

Example; Most mothers were more nurturing than almost any of the fathers. They were also less respected than the male peers. While cave men were arguing in their own ways or killing each other off, due to their personal egos, their mothers believed in preserving life. Plus, the women eased the sexual tensions and frustrating angers between males. Sadly, many ancient women were raped by many horrible human beings, so where other credences.

After a long time periods of abuse had passed, one sunny time around the whole Earth, G.O.D. disguised as a dark, black cloud appeared to all on Earth. While roaring and sparking thunder and lightning, for the first time ever, the Lord spoke upon the civilization of humanity in a language they could soon again understand, "For these horrible cruelties in my human evolution will cease. For I am your Lord and you belong to Me. You all have a much larger role in the improvement and perfection of your race. You shall all assist Me in your own righteous ways. I shall be here watching to see who chooses to follow Me and who does not. The time has arrived for a new world order... and you shall either fully follow Myself or incompletely perish."

The message had been heard and understood by millions of different cave people around the Earth, including Lucifer. For as the Lord gave the third angel the right to choose, so did it give the same right to the cave people. Some were dumb witted, some were intelligent, and many now worshipped and respected more than ever, the illuminating color of cloud and began to make the truly the right choices in certain events of their lives. Many wanted to feel and live in tranquility, and many tried and succeeded. By nature though, man has made it difficult to maintain such commitment of living in peace, almost truly since the beginning of its pure creation.

As the cave people's existence around the Earth slowly came to perishing ends, through the eons due to wars, diseases, and many unexplained natural causes, as earthquakes, typhoons, hurricanes, and exploding volcanoes, plus many thousands of ways of dying, through the eons developed and decrease the Earth's population in a major way. It came to the point that only One separated large tribe was truly left, in a secluded part of the planet. Different tribes, not too far from each other, were brought forth, to unite as one. They were made up of the diminishing Neanderthals, and another made up of the final existing Cro-Magnons, both realized how the world was changing with less people living it. The leaders of the two tribes decided to unite into one large clan-tribe.

Without knowing it, these two tribes would actually help bring forth the new second wave in the evolution of humanity. Within the clans of the last tribes were the final human survivors, that were to be born — and evolve two special children to continue on the existence of the real humanity. Two who were going to help progress a new superior version of humanity, a new transmogrify that was a stronger, smarter, and spiritually superior of the final first wave of humanity. No more than a hundred and fifty members in total, who were the last survivors of the Earth's eons past process of occurrences and sequences.

The clan's leaders, chosen by their own through time, mostly due to the person's higher intelligence, tenacity, and strength, allowed all to mix it up in many ways, from various types of sex with other clan members, to very violent fights with one another within the new tribe. Yes, there was violence, yet beautiful children were being born smarter and stronger clans through the violent-harsh times. The clans were learning to care for their children better than they did before, giving them a better life in many ways. They learned to run, enjoy shallow waters, fish, and even climbing trees, high mountains, also being they were being more cautious than before.

As the cave people evolved through time in many more ways than they thought they had, they especially realized that none could return from death, when they witnessed what happened to a body after their demise. The cave people learned that anything could kill you, so violence declined. Through the ages that followed, the clan-tribe got a little bigger and smarter, especially when they started being more attentive to their creation of their own type of languages, prolonging to their integral customs.

On one sunny time, in moments of life, in one clan, a boy was born, and in the other; short time later, a girl followed. These births were not out of the norm, except that these new cave children's appearances were different from what the other cave people were used to seeing, or even hearing. The children had very light skin, different looking faces and rightful colors to their eyes, compare to the other infants that had been born in the past, these two were different. Through time, the cave parents cared for them very much, yet some of the other tribe members wondered about them, including their main leaders. Some of the elders claimed that they were sent by the almighty colorful cloud of light to help a new tribe emerge, while others thought otherwise and despised them.

As the infants grew up, the tribe's elders and their peers knew these children were very different by appearance, but they could not really understand how, unique they really are. Unlike the other cave people and most of their peers, they had very white faces, and except for their heads, these two had no hair around their bodies. They could easily stand fully erect and could walk naturally, compared to all the rest of the members. At first, some of the tribe leaders wondered about them, but almost all paid no mind to the two, and through their early years they were treated like every other child.

As they kept growing, most of the tribe members did not like the differences these two manifested. Through out their pre-teen time, continuing all through their adult-teen years, they had blossomed into an amazing form of humanness in the Creators new human evolution. The gorgeous girl had become a young, beautiful, tall woman, who had beige-whitish skin, with greenish-blue eyes, a thin nose, and light crimson lips. She also had brownish hair with red streaks in it that covered her smooth shoulders, and she had a very curvy feminine figure. Many women wondered about this young girl and many men would sexually fantasize and actively want to harass her. Even the tribe elders and leaders took a liking to her.

The boy, was constantly harassed by the men and some women as well. The boy grew to be a very strong handsome man, with strong beige-whitish skin, with aqua-blue eyes, a medium size thin nose, and crimson-maroon colored lips. He had light blondish hair with black streaks in it. The young man was muscular, thin, and very tall. Though they both were raised as cave people, their facial features fit in perfectly for a new version of humanity to now exist, but their looks made others hateful towards them or even jealous at times. These looks were peculiar, but yet, desired by some of their peers.

Through time, they both sought each other out. They practiced to perfect their walk and to run fast, they also discovered how to jog and be more faster than their peers. While most of their native families and friends maintained their crouched positions, their old customs, and dull mentality, these two different human beings were expanding their abilities everyday more and more. From mountain climbing, bathing, and running through perilous environments, they both were growing mentally and physically overconfident in many ways, as they learned to practice analyzing the lands they lived on.

In appearance, these two seemed almost flawless. In physical strength, endurance, and stamina, they had extreme human potentials. Growing older and building the strongest of bonds, the two would run away for a few sunsets at times. Most of the time they would leave to avoid their tribe members' and leaders' taunts, plus the many sexual perversions, and abusive cruel actions towards them. For some they were considered a sort of abomination, for others they weren't contemplated at all. Old and young, many every day were showing more hatred against them.

As time had passed, not only their appearances cursed the two to be hated by various people, but also they both decided to live hundreds of feet away from their tribe, for they knew and felt the despise of many. Their G.O.D. given abilities made the cave people envy them. Most of their male peers tried consistently to sexually molest the girl, but the boy defended her. They were taunted constantly, since some of their families that truly loved them had died. While some barely loved them anymore, they sometimes felt like outcasts.

Through time, all in the clan-tribes were still united together as one, but divided in various ways. For many members, especially their leaders at this time, wanted to start their own tribes and some wanted to become like the duo of the pale looking girl and boy, who were now basically young adults. They not only lived closer together, but they really liked each other very much. Deep within their humanness, they knew that they belonged forever together with their own version of love. However, they were still blinded to the real truth; that they were specifically chosen by G.O.D., to resolve a huge problem on Earth, which was surviving the coming of the rapture of the almighty G.O.D.

The duo were always close together, for usually almost no one from any of the clans in the tribe would interact with them, so they had become accustomed to always being together by themselves. They both had discovered their surroundings throughout time, from utilizing the amazonian forest and jungles, to the smooth lakes and the rough currents of the rivers, and they had even visited many distant mountains. Together, they had gone far away from their tribes and had survived, yet, they had much love for some of the clan-tribe members, and sadly, they did not want to be away from them for too long. For both boy and girl realized that the cave people were the only family they had. Regardless, it was still difficult for them to socialize with their prejudicial attitudes and erratical behaviors they would display. So the older they became, the more time they spent away from the clan-tribes.

Out through their journeys together, they had grown very lovingly emotionally close. Plus, they also had witnessed and grew fond of the colorful sparkling cloud that followed them through all their adventures, yet, they did not know that it was G.O.D. watching over them. They deeply knew that the colorful cloud was something special, but they did not quite know what it truly really meant for now. They did not imagine that the cloud of light was one of the many different disguises that Lord has used to reach its people. Guidance was always shown to them by the cloud of light, especially at times they were lost in their perilous journeys. In many situations they had gotten lost from their tribe, but G.O.D. would always show them the way back, for It understood the love they both still had for some of their people.

Throughout their adventurous experiences, they saw many insects, animals, birds, and extraordinary dinosaurian creatures. Through time, they had seen a lot, learned to survive, and the two were truly in love with each other, and had purposely forgotten about their people's way of thinking, but not of the cloud of light. Even though their communication was still limited, for some reason with signs, hums, and taunts, they both understood each other thoroughly. They comprehended that they both were tired of being mistreated by the others and wanted together to leave the tribe, but for some reason they did not.

One day, after being away a few long sunrises, coming back to the tribe, tired, they both arrived to be shunned as outcasts. Not because of the love for each other, but due to some of the members of the clans having a profound ignorance and hatred, and had decided to display this aggressive attitudes against the two. The fact was that most of the people were for some reason jealous of their abilities and looks. One of the main reasons they were envied so much was because one of the elderly leaders was in love with the young girl. Being that they were hardly ever with the tribe, that brought mixed feelings in other members also, for many wanted the girl as well and despised the boy. It was decided by the tribe's leaders that the two were to be removed from their presence permanently. Though some of the tribe members did not like this type of action upon one of their own, especially on the girl, they could not do much about it. For looking beautiful and being uniquely created, the duo were about to get annihilated.

Some of the cave people and some of the leaders labeled them and their appearances unfitting and unworthy, so a mob ferociously attacked them and cast them out of the tribe in a brutal manner. Though some of the members around the different clans wanted to desperately stop this attack and madness, they could not, for they too would have been cast out or killed. The only thing that saved those two from death at that time was the interference of lightning and thunder that struck upon the Earth. It was actually one of the many images of G.O.D. stopping the conflict.

Despised, non-verbally insulted, and bruised, the pale looking young woman and man escaped, and ran for several long miles. Dazed and confused, they were running through fields of grass, wheat, and sand in an unknown direction, scared of not knowing what followed them to hurt them.

After a long time of fleeing, they were bruised, tired, hungry, and they had to rest and take care of their injuries the best way they knew how. As they communicated with sign language, they expressed their worries with a strong hug. They were thinking about how they were going to survive. It was not going to be simple for them they both thought and felt, for all they saw ahead were fields of grass and wheat, and not a single tree from a long view.

Suddenly, while sitting on the wet grass, nursing each other's wounds with mud and dirt, a vision appeared before them. A bright vision unlike what they had ever witnessed in their whole lives revealed in front of them. Coming out of the strong light, the Archangel Gabrielus, appeared before them. Her face had beige-whitish skin, with black eyes, a fine thin nose, brownish-black hair, and crimson-maroon colored lips. She was covered by a robe of red and white, with cut sleeves, and a blue belt with glowing green rings. There was a sword at her side. While raising her feathered wings in the air, she had a glowing energetic aura surrounding her body. They both suddenly realized that the angel was like the colorful cloud, and as she stood floating in the air, they felt that she was here to help them.

Unlike what happened in their old territory, with G.O.D.'s help, he was going to save them from certain death and guide them to their destinies. The archangel spoke, "You two are very unique and special, for that is why Father has a great purpose for you both. You must meet the Creator, for the Lord is the Colorful Cloud which you two have seen all your lives watching over you both, and preparing you for a special moment. Continue walking towards the large star, and you shall see the next archangel standing in front of a row of trees, there you will have arrived at your destination. When he sees you both he shall divide the trees and reveal a doorway of light. Through the illuminating doorway you both shall enter into my Father's haven and my Lord shall be there to greet you both. Walk for you shall seek and then you shall find. Do not fear or worry, for your Creator waits for you, as does your new home — the Paradise Garden."

Astonished, surprisingly the boy and girl understood all Gabrielus said, except the true meaning of the words, Paradise Garden. Though they had passed the point of exhaustion due to their bruises and harsh blisters on their feet, the couple knew they needed to continue in order to meet their Maker. They felt something special and good was going to happen to them soon, through all the horror they had suffered, but they could only imagine what. The weather, while there was sunshine, had been mixed up horribly with windy rain. It seemed like a never ending task for them to handle. Still, as they slowly walked, the Sun remained shining calmly upon their human flesh, as did the Creator's cloud floated and followed, them as well.

As the persistent Sun remained shining above them, the rainy weather fiercely fell upon them also. The Sun's energy beams provided a stream of energy that coursed through their bodies that helped them to continue walking up to a mile to their destination. The water actually gave them both the strength as well, that they were lacking to continue. Really angry, after withstanding so much hatred and abuse by their own kind, they continued walking endlessly for long distances to get as far away from them as they could and towards their new destiny.

Unfortunately, still physically and mentally suffering, they had come to a point where rows of trees that were blocking their path, when they suddenly realized they had finally reached the archangel who guarded the path to the hidden Paradise Garden of G.O.D. When they came up to Pauline, he welcomed them, and with his G.O.D. given powers, the archangel divided the forest trees, where an opening revealed a bright light through a narrow doorway leading to a new field.

The guardian archangel told them, "Enter through the light that a new world awaits for you both. Your Creator anticipates your arrival. Go on."

The young couple hesitantly entered the garden. Once they, did they felt an energy light, that had provided them a new feeling of physical and mental cleansing through their mortal bodies, which was one of the many traits and secrets they were to soon to learn. As they walked through the bright light and felt they were sort of walking on air, the grass was not felt upon their feet. Their vision began to clear, and they arrived and entered a very huge grove that was part of the garden. The realized after the illuminating experience, their bodies had no bruises and felt no pain. They stared around the circle of different color trees, vines, grass, and a sort of glittery atmosphere, they instantly knew this place was different from any other place the both had ever been. The couple realized a major picture, when coming into the grove, as they saw a bluish-yellow fire that floated in the middle of the grass, without burning it. Concealed within the colorful fire was a sword, that was pointing upside down, in the shape of a cross. It was a sword made of silver, gold, platinum, and all four elements soil, water, air, and fire were magically engulfed within it. The sword's handle bore an emblem of a silver six point star with a small gold cross inside.

The cross-sword appeared to be levitating from the ground, but it was pierced and stuck into a very large stone. It was called by G.O.D. as either the sword-cross or the cross-sword. For now the name was in a limbo state until the decision of a proper name shall be made by a very special human. The elemental cross-sword was a creation of the Lord, for a special purpose.

After staring at the cross-sword and being amazed by it, the boy and girl witnessed the mighty hands of G.O.D. in the mold of clouds, appearing before them in front of the sword, asking them, "Do you like my cross-sword which I also call the sword-cross? I shall let you both decide what I shall name this scimitar of powerful-energy of mine. It is my gift to you, if you earn it." They both instantly and naturally bowed their heads up and down in agreement.

G.O.D. the Creator then began to speak to them in a more profound version in the language of their future, in the originality of the He-Brew-Shi language, "Okay, greetings My children. Welcome to your new home. I give you through these veins of bushes, shrubs, and trees, a whole world different from the one you left beyond. Here no one can ever hurt you, not your own parents or any of your other ancestors. Here you shall live as My first flawless human specimens, for you are the perfect man and woman, I have been creating for a while now. You have much to offer this Earth, so I shall call you by the names of Adamus and Evenus and this paradise belongs to you."

The Almighty continued, "Here you shall not hunger, suffer, or ever perish. You shall be immortal. You shall befriend and speak to the animals of all types and of certain elemental species, such as the insects, amphibians, reptiles, birds and fishes. You shall share our food with them and eat any fruits or vegetables you may choose to find. Here you shall have a purpose to live eternally, and you both shall also bring forth a new, unique, specimen in humanity and help create and evolve of an honorable respectful worshipping aspect for Me. There is one very important rule though, while leaving here. Do you see that tree? For I know you know the meaning of the word tree, but this trunk of a tree is a very special unique one. You need to stay away from it though, for that metallic tree on top of the hill was the first that grew on this planet. Inside that forbidden tree though, is incarcerated knowledge of the beginning light and darkness, that can destroy this world or reshape it. However we may choose to do," calmly said the Almighty Powerful One.

"Respect this tree of knowledge and stay away from it or the consequences shall be horrific. One moment in time, I shall give you permission to eat the fruits from the forbidden tree, but until that day, you shall not eat from this tree nor even glimpse at it. The fruits born from my holy tree are very special and sanctified, for they are the fruits of humanity to come, My peaches, grapes, apples, oranges, bananas, melons, and cherries. All these specific fruits are My personal favorites and are very unique and special. As well as you can see that there are patches of small trees around the large one. Those are my favorite vegetables, carrots, peas, cauliflower, and broccoli. You shall find all of these fruits and vegetables, throughout my garden, but you may not touch these as well. These are My holiest of foods, that are growing sacred, as equals to the tree. I have created many vegetables and fruits for different significance. For your enjoyment in your new home, water, fruits, and vegetables shall be everywhere around My garden, many of every unimaginable kind. For now, the forbidden metallic tree is not permitted to be touched. Once you bring forth our children, I shall then most likely allow you permission to feed the children from the tree, but I and I alone can give you permission to eat from this platinum tree. The day shall definitely arrive, Adamus and Evenus, where you both shall unite intimately and bring forth generations of loving children. Here you shall also create with my help a new language and utilize your individual inner creativity. Whatever you wish or desire; I... your Lord Jehovah shall deliver unto you. As long as it is kosher. Always remember that I am forever yours and I shall always provide for and love you. My children please, enter your new home and live a compassionate and peaceful life eternally with Me."

Adamus and Evenus listened to G.O.D.'s words very carefully and understood everything spoken to them. As they had to pass a second illuminating doorway, this sometime secluded in a small tight, yet, all white room, they experienced a second, but more intense and truly unique, holy cleansing and awakening, one they understood, but had never felt before. For it was a spiritual one. As if all cause of evilness had stopped and a big burden was lifted of them by their Lord Jehovah.

For now they were blessed truly physically, mentally, and spiritually. Adamus and Evenus were reborn in that once moment in time, they became one with G.O.D. and the Earth. As they realized that they were now different and unique, the duo wept out of happiness. They were ready to take on their new world.

The first sight they saw when they entered into paradise was a large blue-green pond that glistened in the soft warmth of the ray's of the Sun, and was surrounded by beautiful colorful trees, bushes, shrubs, and vines, that incredibly had over five dozen different fruits and vegetables growing on them. They appreciated and admired the cool smooth breezes on that sunny day a beauty unlike they had ever felt and seen in their lives. Suddenly, as the couple enjoyed the scenery, hundreds of different unique species of animals, insects, amphibians, reptiles, and fowl ran, crawled, and flew towards them, to welcome the duo into G.O.D.'s paradise. Lambs, rams, bulls, lions, bears, ducks, goats, giraffes, chickens, eagles, crabs, roaches, scorpions, and about one hundred other uniquely created different species of animals and creatures came to greet Evenus and Adamus. Incredibly, the couple could communicate with every one of the different animals, including the aquatic ones. They did not fear any of the animals as they once had outside the walls of paradise. Nor did any of the species of animals dislike them. On the contrary, all the types of critters began to love hanging out with these two. Evenus and Adamus also began to smell and enjoy the perfume scents of the various flowers and the wide varieties of different looks to them. For G.O.D. created all that existed in the Paradise Garden and the pleasures of the Lord were beyond the magnitudes of Earth. That moment in time, had been the happiest in the lives of Adamus and Evenus.

During their first night in the garden, stomachs full, Adamus and Evenus slept profoundly and happily with all the animals around them. In their dreams, G.O.D. lifted their spiritual souls out of their bodies and brought them to visit the Lord's personal heaven. The duo saw G.O.D. in one of Its billions of different cloudy images and witnessed as the archangels flew, sang, and praised their Creator and each other. While praising their Lord, different new angels played beautiful music with the other older angels. Dreaming, they slept until dawn. Adamus and Evenus also were blessed to speak with their parents and some of their ancestor's spirits who now enjoyed playing holy music for G.O.D. They were happy to see some of their family happily rejoicing in the heavens with the Lord Jehovah.

When they asked for other certain members of their old clan-tribe, G.O.D. told them, "Those members spiritual souls are now trapped roaming the Earth. Those who did not follow Me as being the cloud of light that hovers and watches over them, they now suffer as their souls remain trapped on Earth. As for those who believe in Me, the day of the rapture and redemption has come and soon to be gone. Those like some of your fathers, mothers, and some peers are now in the heavens with Me, and you are here as the new human evolution, in the new beginning of Earth." Understanding what the Lord said eased many worries the couple had.

G.O.D. continued, "Through out the first wave of My humanity, I let your people know right from wrong. I let them know that following the cloud of light would allow them to live forever in a new and different world after their deaths. Unfortunately, back in that time of ignorance, brutality was a way of life. Not too many of your ancestral relatives believed in My presence and came to Me when they perished. Those that did follow the light now dance and live eternally in the heavens. As for you two... you do not imagine how special you really are."

After long hours of dreaming and speaking with G.O.D., the scenery suddenly changed. As Adamus and Evenus stared at the forbidden metallic tree in their dreams, the whole arboreal, began to shake vigorously, after little while, it stopped in a frozen state of ice. Moments later, through the frozen tree, holes of orange and red magma flames starting appearing, through the tree. The tree began to catch flame, melt into the ground, and disappear. At that exact moment, Adamus and Evenus awoke from their weird dreams. Shaking and scared, back to reality, both of them stared deeply at a long distance at the forbidden metallic tree of knowledge, for a very long time.

Moments after, G.O.D. spoke to them, "Good dawn My children. I hope you had pleasant dreams. Please come and sit next to me near My platinum-golden streak tree, for there is much we need to discuss."

Adamus and Evenus obeyed their G.O.D. and walked up the hill, then sat in front of the forbidden tree, inches away from the metallic bark and leaves of the arboreal wonder, next to a cloudy image of dirt and dust, with gold, and sparks of silver streaks within it, that spun as a long tornado storm. The storm was harmless, for It was one of the many representations of G.O.D.

It spoke to them, "Come sit next to Me for I want you to understand the important reasons of never coming near this tree, that is until I decide."

G.O.D. then truly began to explain the beginning of the heavens and the universal evolution, the creation of Lucifer and his twelve angelic brothers and their entrapment in the middle of the planets, the creation of the Earth, the animals and the many beasts that came to be, the rise of the first wave of humanity, the entrapment of Lucifer's spiritual soul essence locked in the tree, and finally the creation of them the perfect man and woman.

G.O.D. not only taught them about the past, but about the present. It taught them the importance of how the planets are aligned with the Sun and how they were created as prisons for the first original thirteen angelic brothers. What waited in the future was to be eternally living in G.O.D.'s paradise, if obedience was practiced. As they listened to the importance of staying away from the first ever Earthly tree, Evenus and Adamus also learned the importance of worshipping G.O.D. even further.

For a very long time, they listened to G.O.D. and promised to never approach the tree, until the blessed day, when the Lord would grant them permission to enjoy from it. They promised to strictly obey this rule. As Adamus and Evenus got up and were going to walk back to their paradise, G.O.D. told them, "Look at the My tree one last time for the vision you shall see shall help you understand how special you are."

As they stared at the tree, they both witnessed a cloud that appeared among the metallic looking leaves. The cloud began to show many images of destruction. As they held their hands together, within the visions they saw a land familiar to the duo that was being destroyed by ice and then burnt by fire. After a long view of seeing their original homeland turned to hard ice and then burnt, they mourned as the members of their ex-tribe tried to get away and find shelter, but could not. Every animal and creature of all breeds, and every vegetation and fruits on Earth, perished. The people they knew and had much love for were now extinguished, for not having faithful belief. As the couple stared in horror at what they were witnessing, it was proven to them that G.O.D. was to be respected, cherished, and not to be denied. As they continued to view the images within the tree, their hearts bore a heavy burden within them. After they saw the power of the ice over the lands, they also witnessed the power of the Sun's fire over the world. Viewing as everyone and everything was now melted and slowly cast in fire. A huge magma of fire swept across all the lands, melting and burning what was in its way. A three-fourth part of the Earth was destroyed into dust.

For a long time, they quietly sat on the beautiful greenish-bluish grass next to each other, staring at the tree. G.O.D. demonstrated how he had punished almost all of the cave people with this massacre due to their ignorance, sinfulness, and lack of belief in the cloud of light – in G.O.D.'s protection. Adamus and Evenus remained protected in the Paradise Garden, and were grateful at the love shown and provided by their Creator.

Moments later, the cloudy view disappeared. G.O.D. let them know that a few members of their x-tribe would survive the worldly holocaust and live on the newly remodeled Earth, outside of the paradise without knowing the truth.

G.O.D. spoke again, "That is what is left of your past world. My ice and fire age have passed right through the world beyond Our paradise. To the world where you My children came from, the Earth where you no longer have to go back to if you choose not to."

As tears ran down the cheeks of Evenus and Adamus, G.O.D. urged, "Do not grieve or worry. For those who chose to believe in My Cloud of Light, now are with Me. You shall never be sent back out to the world and receive that type of punishment as long as you obey My three main holy rules;

First: Always understand that I am G.O.D., your Creator... Friend... and Lord Jehovah. You shall not believe in another holy-entity... but truly and only Me.

Second: You shall comfortably love each other and all that exists around you, maintaining a beautiful life of comfort... peace... and compassionate understanding in your new home.

Finally: Stay away from the My elemental metallic tree, for until true holy permission is granted by Me. You both shall eat and learn from the metallic tree of knowledge, in due process.

The Lord continued, "Remember, you are forever My perfect man and woman. You both represent a new more profound version in a true perfect humanity... on this planet plagued by death, but controlled by Me. Others like you must come forth and exist. Part of your priority living here is bringing forward a new perfect species of humans. Unlike your previous ancestors, you Evenus, shall birth in the power of the holy-belief, no pain unlike your ancestors, birth siblings with of course Adam's help. Children to remain and maintain the life circle in the paradise.

My beautiful couple, for now go and enjoy yourselves. I give you the ability to choose to do what you like in this blessed paradise on Earth. For as long as the three main rules remain unbroken, you shall live in comfort and peace and I shall protect you in your peaceful world from any unforgiving being. Understand though, I am giving you the chance to choose your own will. Please, choose wisely and forever remain at My side.”

The couple bowed, and calmly and gratefully said, “yes.”

Through all that was occurring, within the middle of the Earth, the dark-angel was contemplating and laughing with hatred. As he witnessed what the Lord had created, the dark immortal, knew that he would have his chance once again to conquer over humanity, and create his own personal abominations to help destroy the Earth. For now there was a treaty between him and the Creator. Who would remain, only time would tell.

As the Suns and Moos progressed daily, Adamus and Evenus grew to love G.O.D., their home, and everything that came along with it. Every day they played games in the wide forest and in the deep pool of the cool waters. For even underneath the waters, the duo could breathe and communicate with all types of different marine life, as they could speak with the Lord and all the paradise animals. They ate all types of fruits and vegetables, and created with the help of G.O.D., a true language. They called that language He-Brew-Shi which actually meant, He and she – for they both creatively lived. Plus, they also helped the Lord in the invention of the first numerical and alphabetical tablet. They planned to teach their children to speak the same language, they were thought by G.O.D. With their new and profound linguistic abilities, they had created artistically – a historical facts of all their unique adventures ever experienced in the time they had lived on Earth, especially now. They also decided to ask for permission to change their names into shorter versions of the originals – Adam and Eve and those many names soon have come to be.

Eve and Adam enjoyed their life to the fullest, especially when making love to each other. Their love was so incredibly passionate and holy, that the Lord blessed Eve with a girl and boy inside her womb. Eve would soon enough give birth to a boy and girl that G.O.D. would bless in birth, only after a certain amount of the passing of the Suns and Moons would pass on the planet. Unfortunately, the Moon was seen every once in a long while. Every twenty or thirty Suns later, the Moon would make a full Earthly appearance. When it would show itself, vegetation and animals would grow even larger than the normal size, due to the light rays reflected by the distant, yet magical sphere. It was a radiant moment for the whole paradise when the Moon would appear, for everyone enjoyed the long pleasure of the Moon’s cosmic rays, as they did the illuminating glares furnished also by the Sun. The Lord’s display of powers was very intriguing throughout the planet, thought Adam and Eve. Adam was superbly thrilled and surprised that he was going to be a father, like his G.O.D. and ancestors. Eve was also excited, but a bit worried. For G.O.D. had promised them both that the children would arrive on Earth in a holy, sacred, and mystifying form, but was this going to be true? It would be unlike anything that their ancestors had witnessed or felt — a holy experience for both. For yes, Eve was the bearer of these twins, but without Adam's presence, they could never be born. They both had to birth these children together, as a couple. They both had to be part of this holy experience. Still with bits of worries within their inner minds, they both were still looking forward to the birth of their children.

As the Moon and the Sun appeared and passed in their lives, Eve's stomach grew very larger. Eventually it was so big that for some reason, Eve became terribly worried.

Suddenly, G.O.D. appeared, "My child, do not trouble or even worry for your children will also be my eternal unique love-life. The birth of our future predecessors shall be a holy and sacred birth I repeat to you both. Your son and daughter represent the generations at peace force to come, and they shall flourish in our paradise. On the upcoming and following Suns and on the thirteenth reflection of the Moon shall pass this new Earth's atmosphere, so the time shall arrive for the holy birth. You shall know when and be prepared as to what to do. Do not worry your mind for now. Enjoy yourself My children and remember, I... your Father Jehovah, will always love you forever." After G.O.D. spoke those words, Eve was more calmer than she had ever been in her whole life.

As the Suns and Moons passed, they both lived more happily and made sure to enjoy all that the Paradise Garden had to offer with their true friends — humanity's animals. They did not worry through the days that passed, they waited patiently on their Lord's calling for the birth of their children — until one fateful day.

Eve was nine Moons and plenty of Suns pregnant, and she was due to give birth on the arrival of the thirteenth Moon, but her deep inner sin got the best of her. On a mild sunny day inside the paradise, her curiosity was flourishing and expanding. As Eve was happily walking and talking with an ostrich, a hen, a mouse, and a ferret, they all passed by the forbidden metallic tree. As the ostrich and the ferret continued walking, Eve and the animals stopped and began to admire the golden-platinum tree from a short distance.

"It's beautiful," said the mouse.

"It sure is. Yet, we must go for it is forbidden to sit here. For G.O.D. said so," spoke the ostrich.

"Let us go," said the hen.

"Yeah, we need to stay away from here please," said the ferret.

"I know, but let me stay here a while. I want to enjoy the view, for it has been so long since I have been here, and the integral part is, this place is mesmerizing," said Eve.

"Okay, but hurry," said the hen. The eloquence of her voice made the animals not worry. Then she began to fall into a vision of grandeur. She was mesmerized by the thoughts within her mind, as they were not normal thoughts. "For I have tried every other fruit and vegetable in this garden but... I, I, I... can only wonder... how the fruit of your leaves must taste... beautiful tree. How do you taste...? What is so special about you?"

As she impulsively walked up the stairs of grass that led to the tree, she did not know that because of her curiosity, the innocent female was a step toward being a hardcore-sinner once again. As Eve stepped closer towards the tree, she stared and was mesmerized by the tree's shining beauty. As she stood there in tranquility in front of the evolved arboreal, a creature she had never seen, slithered getting near before her. Because it was the first time Eve had ever laid eyes on such a fascinating, yet, repulsive of a large looking creature, she found it intriguing. The animal, a snake to be exact, was all black with white spots all around its very large smooth looking skin of a body and had huge long fangs, though not menacing looking.

The creature spoke, "Guess what child Eve, today is a good day for you. Your Lord has sent me to give you permission to eat from this beautiful tree. Go ahead my child, take a bite from its beautiful fruits, for the Lord said so."

Eve was appalled. "Who are you? No! I cannot. Adam and I are forbidden to even look at the tree, let alone eat from it. I should not even be here. For G.O.D. shall be angry. I shall leave and have to ask my Lord. What kind of creature are you?"

After a much long debate and argument, not convinced, yet, desperately trying to seduce her, the snake suddenly got an idea.

It stood on its tail and said, "Look at me woman. Do you see this holy symbol on my body, my beautiful Eve? Do you not see the proof that I was sent to give you permission to finally enjoy and eat. You shall anger your Lord with ridiculous questions. Eat from that beautiful tree?"

"Oh my, yes, yes... the logo we saw when we first came into the paradise. It is G.O.D.'s symbol, and you wear it upon you. You must be sent by my Lord, you must be," Eve nervously answered.

"Now you understand. So eat and do not bother your Lord with trivial questions. Enjoy the fruits. I recommend the banana, it's a personal favorite, it may be used for many things," said the slithering snake.

"What else do you use it for?" Eve nervously asked.

"Hiss, just eat my dear one, eat... hiss..." demanded the slithering snake.

“Okay... if you say the Creator is busy, I believe you. I'll try the fruits and ask my beautiful Lord later. I do hope It is okay,” wondered the curious, yet, anxious Eve.

“It will be fine. Yes my dear creature, it will be. Now eat and enjoy the fruits, enjoy,” said the slithery snake.

Eve anxiously stared at both the tree and the snake, and got much closer to the forbidden metallic tree, touching and seriously eating the different varieties of fruit. Believing the reptile and ignoring G.O.D.'s rules, she notice that the five different vegetables within the shrubs and bushes were glowing white.

“Do not worry about those, for it is the heavens rejoicing at your loyalty to your G.O.D., that is why they illuminate. You shall get to try those later,” said the snake.

“Fine. If you say so, I am going to believe you. Mmmm... this is delicious! Holy wow... they are all unique...,” said Eve, with her mouth half full, while speaking. Continuing, her soft hands touched the golden-platinum fruits and she would shortly devour them in a few chews. As she acted upon her inner impulsiveness, Eve did the forbidden touch and taste. She picked fruit after fruit and began to nervously eat it. She could not believe the flavors of what she tasted. For unlike the fruits in the garden, she could feel the sensations of popping, tickling sparkles inside her mouth with each flavor she tried, and she began to feel a supreme strength and intelligence.

Though, the fruit did not do any damage within her body, it was a unique sensation that made her feel uniquely almighty intelligent. Savoring the new frisson of love and knowledge, she sat next to the tree, conversing with the snake, as she tried all of the golden-platinum looking fruits and fell in love with them all. G.O.D. was watching.

Not far away from the tree, Adam enjoyed playing with a bear and a lion. Suddenly, G.O.D. had spoken to him, “Adam, go speak to your wife this instant. She has done wrong against Me and you.”

“What...?” asked Adam.

“Go...,” G.O.D. commanded.

“Yes my Lord,” Adam wondered. As he slowly walked toward Eve, the man could not believe his eyes. His wife sat next to the forbidden tree, laughing and talking to herself, with metallic fruit scraps all around her. Adam instantly knew what his wife had done. When Eve noticed her husband, she got up and ran to hug him and told him about the snake and how G.O.D. had given them permission to eat from the tree. She offered and gently stroked in front of Adam a metallic fruit, a golden-platinum apple to be precise. Adam looked at her and began to for a moment to daydream about how good the forbidden fruit would taste and what pleasures he could probably enjoy.

Moments later, he came to his senses, Adam then gently pushed Eve away, but soon began the loss of reasoning, as he started to ask, "Eve, what have you done woman? You have sinned against our Master. How dare you? What have you done...?"

"Adam, G.O.D. said it was fine to eat. I mean it by my life and our children," said Eve.

"Liar. Now G.O.D. will punish us and cast us out of the Paradise Garden, out of our home, out of our haven. How could you? How dare you." Continuing with screams and insults, Adamus' anger suddenly took total control of him, and for the first and last time ever, with the pure strength behind his left hand, he impulsively slapped Eve with much impact across the right side of her face, knocking the pregnant child to the floor.

"Ouch... Adam...? Why...? Adam, how could you...? Why...? How...?" asked his nervous pregnant wife, as she lay on the ground hurt. At that point Adam was more than speechless, but ashamed. At an instant, G.O.D. appeared in one of Its own personal, very dark colored, cloudy images and was enraged. "Answer her Adam. How could you hit your wife? How dare you? Why have you broken the second rule of My paradise? Why have you sinned against Me? Why...?" Adam tried to answer, but could not.

G.O.D. roared, "Quiet... As for you My dear Eve, you are no different from Adam, with your sins. Why have you broken the third rule of My holy paradise? No answer. For since you have both sinned against Me; your Creator, I cast you both out of Paradise Garden forever."

"No," together cried Adam and Eve.

"I am a lenient Parent though. In your first lives you are cast out of this paradise, but you may earn your way back here. Later in your lives you can both return to this heaven and live your eternal lives here. Your second lives shall begin after your first death. Until then you both shall be outcasts from this world and you shall return back to your original world where you came from," G.O.D. explained.

"Oh no," Eve gasped.

"How will we live? Where do we go?" Adam asked. As tears ran down both their faces, they stood next to the forbidden tree, waiting for an answer from G.O.D.

The Creator replied, "I am a merciful G.O.D. I shall certainly forgive you for this disobedience, but you shall be punished for your sins. You shall both go back to live in the world where you were from originally. You shall go without the ability to speak the holy language we have all created. You both shall remain mute until I decide otherwise. Outside of this place you shall suffer the harsh climates of your original birth world. For your personal sin against Me, Eve, you shall experience painful labor and give birth to two infant boys instead of the original pair to whom you were to give holy birth. Of those two boys, one will have a good, loving nature and the other will be the opposite of its twinned counterpart. As for you Adam, for the action of your personal sin, you shall have to labor to provide comfort for your family and yourself. You will always love and honor your wife and you will never put your hands on Eve or your children in a harmful manner... ever again. For if you do I shall cast you to dust as your death indefinitely," angrily spoke the Lord upon the once perfect human specimen.

After a long moment of G.O.D. demonstrating electrical sparkles of anger, the Lord continued, "Even outside of My paradise you all have a life with Me. For as long as you believe in Me... I will protect you through your trials and tribulations. Only by believing in Me shall you survive the evil of the world you are about to re-enter. Earn your way back to My paradise and you shall live here eternally once again. I give you the choice to follow Me or perish. So love Me, yourselves, and everyone."

After the long speech by the now named Lord Jehoivah, with a bolt of lightning, G.O.D. disintegrated the forbidden metallic tree and cast away the trapped spiritual soul of Lucifer to another long distant place. After the dust blew away, an immense black cloud of smoke appeared and within a moment disappeared, revealing a crater where the tree once stood.

"Go now. Do not think of turning back or I will destroy you. Once you re-enter your old original lands, you shall come out of a cave. From there you shall be on your own until you learn to gain respect from Me again. For you shall realize and learn to properly honor Me. Now go," G.O.D. commanded. Crying and begging for forgiveness, Adam and Eve hesitantly left Paradise Garden. One of G.O.D.'s archangels pushed and guided them to the exit. As they entered and walked down and up a long hallow cave, they exited and re-entered the world they originally came from, for they were no longer allowed in the paradise garden of the Lord. Directing them back to the old world, Mialchael's last words spoken to the duo were, "Think before you act... for G.O.D. analyzes it all.

From being blessed by living in a paradise, they both had arrived back to the original world they came from, cursed. As the nighttime had engulfed the planet in total darkness and the coldness of the windy air bit harshly on their skin, it was also raining, thundering, and lightning, and the land was muddy, filled with all types of stones, rocks, and broken bones everywhere. As they both looked around their environment, all they could see was a single beam of moonlight that was shining on top of a table shaped rock in the middle of the desert. Adam and Eve had nowhere to go. As they glanced back toward the cave, they saw a boulder now blocked the entrance. They stood lost and naked in the darkness for a long while, scared of what might be to come. Left at the imagination of what might result out of G.O.D.'s anger.

After a long while, Adam looked at his pregnant wife with pity and forgiveness, and gently squeezed her hand. Though they could not speak, Eve telepathically understood his feelings and appreciated his virtue. They nervously kissed and held hands tightly, and then they prayed together for G.O.D. to protect them from this night in this old world. The world where they were originally born and had once lived. They knew where they were, and all they had now was the love of each other and G.O.D.

As he picked up his wife, he proceeded to walk through stacks of sticks that formed a bridge and were soon collapsing into the new formed lake as Adam carried Eve downward to the dirty, wet, sandy and muddy ground, to calmly sit her upon the only rock-table. There, scared, naked, sitting, while struggling and putting up with the harsh, windy rain, they did not remotely imagine what experiences the light of dawn would bring upon them, but they profoundly knew that G.O.D. would be on their side, protecting them always. After telepathically speaking with each other, they both realized that there was a word the Lord told them to apply to themselves – the word is respect. They prayed to G.O.D. to find out what the word truly meant, for they obviously never knew its true meaning. The duo unfortunately, in a harsh way, were truly going to learn on this night what the word meant.

Sitting on the rock-table, wet, they had to control their inner sins within, that they could not blame anyone, but themselves of their current situation. If they were to survive and live with their G.O.D. eternally on Earth, they were going to learn to practice the meaning of reverence, commitment, and compromise to the Lord, and most of all to each other, including the creatures of G.O.D. The Almighty left both of them alone that night to endure the lightning, thunder, and harsh, windy, wet weather for a long while. They cried and were very scared, but they both understood they deserved what disciplinary actions they were receiving.

Evolution Chapter 3

Lucifer versus G.O.D. — The Bet!

"This page is intentionally blank, yet, why waste a tree ... especially when writing a good book. Let Us use our resources wisely ... and more shall be accomplished."

— G.O.D.

fter G.O.D. expelled Adam and Eve from the Paradise Garden, the Lord quickly visited Lucifer in his confinement in the center of the mildly lighted Earth.

In the middle of the Earth, inside an extremely hot and cold rocky, dingy lair with all types and sizes of worms and abominate creatures in it, G.O.D. firmly spoke to Its previous predecessor.

"True congratulations my third angel, you have actually won our bet. You really managed to persuade my perfect children to sin against Me. I am very much impressed that they fell for your hideous lies and trickery. I never thought they would ever fall."

Lucifer cynically laughed. "We both know the truth. You made them sin, I just complied with your rules. We both know you have control over everything and everyone on this Earth,
