

Suni Summers

Shares A Story

Suni is a giver - plain and simple. After all, her parents always told her, "When you get, give." So she wants to share a story - 1,000 storybooks with the people in her community. Only she has a huge problem - the weather! Her books are destroyed due to an unfortunate mistake. Why can't the weather just cooperate and not ruin things?

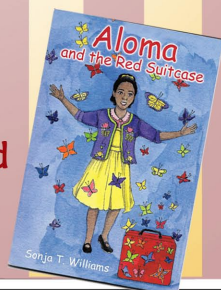

Suni has a brilliant plan and just two days to get the books that she needs. She recruits her family and best friends to help her share her love for books. What Suni discovers is that sharing isn't always as simple as it seems.

Will Suni and her BFFs collect 1,000 books in time for "give-away" day?

Look inside for a blueberry lemonade recipe!

Ages 6-10

Also Available
Aloma and the Red
Suitcase

STP Publishing

By Sonja T. Williams