

This is a power house of a story equally packed with action and emotion. Often people's lives reflect the weather, such as hurricanes.

As The Tortilla Burns is such a story.

It isn't all sweet and harmonious like invented stories, but tastes of disappointment, obstacles and bewilderment, of madness and dreams like the lives of real people who no longer lie to themselves, learning invaluable lessons about life.

In an exciting journey she travels to remote beaches, missions and towns searching for the characters from a 200 year old diary. She Wendy, divorced at 50, finds herself on her own and decides to follow her dream to write a book. Captivated by an unusual vision she had while traveling in Central America in her 20's. She finds an antique book from the 1800's in Argentina written about a mysterious family and the sinking of a Spanish ship, prompting her to investigate the story. After a vacation to Mexico she decides to move to a small village on the Baja and finds the perfect spot to work and write. While trying to buy the property she finds herself caught in a web of lies and deceit from ruthless owners who try to swindle her. As her life becomes intertwined with the story she is writing and people she is involved with, her life turns into a nightmare, taking her to the edge of madness through dreams, ghosts, and memories of a past life, hurricanes and unbelievable events. She tries desperately to overcome the obstacles she faces, through her spirituality, but is blocked at every turn.

With blessings, angels, empathy and compassion she finds herself on a journey to the depths of her soul and with the will and courage to survive, she leaves everything behind in a harrowing true story of discovery and transformation.
