

TANRAN is gift to the Reiki experience. It is a vehicle for inter-dimensional travel that affects spirit and body simultaneously allowing one to freely access various dimensions of ascended thought during meditation. As above, so below, its circles represent the elements of earthly and universal life forces and the infinite cycles of life and consciousness contained within its Merkaba structure. The outer Merkaba reflects the sentient universal life forces of magnetism, electricity, ether, light, matter, and intelligence. The inner Merkaba reflect the sentient life force of the elements of solar heat, air, water, mineral kingdom, earth, and plant life with the shared element of sound and Divine Intelligence at its center. These elements are what keep our physical and subtle body forms alive and functioning while embodied here on Earth.

Although the Tanran symbol corresponds to the Heart Chakra, it connects directly with Daikomyo the center of our spiritual connectedness with Divinity and is the nucleus of spiritual life. This helps one to align with the wisdom, love and desire to resolve differences of all types and in all relationships as an expression of the presence of harmony and unconditional love within all life force elements that we are a part of. By this Tanran helps one to access, innerstand, and express the unconditional love, peace, and creativity that reside within one's Higher Self and ground these qualities into one's life experiences.

The physical anatomy related to this chakra are the Heart, pericardium, lungs, thymus, breast, chest area, triple warmer, cardiovascular system, blood, cellular structure, arms, and involuntary muscles. Psycho-spiritual conditions addressed range from breathing problems, upper back, shoulder, and arm problems to sorrow, depression, and the fulfillment of true happiness. Spiritual conditions addressed are the mental/emotional challenges of living up to the demands of those we work for and those we love within the restraints of a socioeconomical restraints being imposed upon most of humanity by corporate entities & institutions who are in control of the way in which we structure our lives socially, technologically, and personally.

From Chapter 1 of Sentient Artistry – The Healing Imagery of Tanran Reiki – By D'MChelle