

Mystery of the Flying Discs by G. N. Holloway

Midway through the 20th century, author and philosopher Gilbert N. Holloway wrote many monographs, about esoteric subjects of great interest to many of his loyal readers.

Today, we are happy to reproduce his typed manuscripts, in ebook format, for readers across the universe.

In more recent times, Holloway's cosmic realm theory has been developed much further, giving us some PRACTICAL knowledge, about the "Harmony of the Spheres."

Such insight includes, the development of accurate timing tools for events in our daily lives, like trading the stock and bonds or commodities markets.

THE MYSTERY OF THE FLYING DISCS AND OTHER STRANGE SKY CRAFT

To write on the subject of this discourse almost imbues one with an aura of fantasy. Ten years ago - - even five - - it would have seemed absurd and ridiculous to write thus. Yet in this evening's newspaper [REDACTED] appears the following United Press dispatch from Washington D.C.:

"An American Airlines pilot has reported a new type of flying saucer - - a 'submarine with lights.'"

Capt. William Sperry, Tulsa, Okla., advised National Airport here last night that we spotted 'something' in the sky about seven miles west of Mount Vernon, Virginia, at an altitude of 7500 feet.

"It circled our DC-6 twice and headed off toward Washington!" he said "the object looked like 'a submarine with lights.' He said it passed in front of the moon and the silhouette disclosed it had no wings."

Our readers will recall that during the past three years the subject of "flying saucers" has been treated largely in a jocular vein. The "saucers" have been the butt of all kinds of jokes, and Hollywood has produced a movie of fantasy about them. But the observational reports continue to pile up until the problem of these mysterious flying ships requires the attention of every thoughtful person.

THE HARD FACTS

During the recent war the public became conditioned to much military secrecy, so it was assumed in most minds, if the stories were believed at all, that the "saucers" or flying discs were some new type of guided missile or experimental aircraft. In fact, this is probably the prevailing explanation in the mass mind at the moment.

We have needed more facts, more reliable information on the subject. Recently a book has been published entitled "The Flying Saucers Are Real" by Donald Keyhoe. It was printed in the pocket-size edition by Gold Medal Books, Fawcett Place, Greenwich, Conn., and may be obtained direct from them for 30 cents or possibly from your local newsstand or book dealer. Mr. Keyhoe has done the reading public a real service by devoting a year to exhaustive inquiry among civilians and Air Force personnel with regard to the mysterious discs. He presents his findings very rationally, making a clear distinction between fact and speculation.

The facts themselves are astonishing. As the editor of "True" magazine stated to Keyhoe, "This is probably the most important story since the birth of Christ." There is no question about the reality of the flying discs and other strange aircraft. Beginning in 1946 and 1947 there have been hundreds of direct observational reports on them. On Feb. 1st of this year, just before nightfall, a huge disc roared through the sky above Tucson, Arizona. At least a thousand persons in the streets below witnessed the remarkable phenomenon. It was reported in detail the following day in Tucson "Daily Citizen," although the national press wire services did not carry the story. The government remembers the hysteria caused by the fictionalized Martian broadcast of Orson Welles a few years ago, and is cautiously testing public sentiment and preparing the public mind for the staggering facts which we present herewith.

The United States Air Force has been carefully investigating the disc reports from the very beginning, and undoubtedly is still doing so. As part of the cautious approach to the public mind, the Air Force has from time to time denied the reality of the strange discs and other craft; but in other reports it has admitted the truth of many direct observations and even speculated on the origin and meaning of the discs.

Keyhoe reports that flyers were ordered to pursue the discs, to study and report on them. If they were our guided missiles, as many thinkers and writers contend, why would our own Air Force be so desperately anxious to gain knowledge about them? And if they are guided missiles, why are they flying in standard airplanes and over crowded cities where an error might cause hundreds of deaths, even panic and hysteria of whole populations?

THE MANTELL CASE

On January 7th, 1948 Captain Thomas Mantell was aloft in his army fighter plane, above Godman Air Force Base, Kentucky. Suddenly a huge disc appeared, then hovered about the airfield. Mantell and two other pilots pursued it. Officials at the field sighted the disc, then heard Captain Mantell a few minutes later report by radio, "I've sighted the thing - - It looks metallic - - and it's tremendous in size!" A few minutes later Mantell's airplane blew up and its pieces were scattered through the countryside.

Nothing is officially known (or at least said) as to the cause of the explosion of Mantell's plane. Apparently there is no evidence of hostile action from the tremendous disc. It remains a mystery, but the case itself was sufficient to make many skeptical minds in Washington accept the reality of the flying discs. There were various estimates of the size of the huge ship - - ranging from 300 to 1,000 feet in diameter!

An army pilot named Gorman pursued a small disc in the air above Fargo, North Dakota. In fact, for several minutes there was a seeming "dogfight," with Gorman failing to catch up with the strange object. It was very small, not over six feet in diameter, and largely translucent. It gave off a soft light, and seemed to have no pilot or occupant.

On July 24th, 1948, two airline pilots named Chiles and Whitted reported a strange craft which flew by their ship, going in the opposite direction. It was wingless, cigar-shaped and about one hundred feet long - - similar to the "submarine with lights" mentioned in the first paragraph of this article! Add to these outstanding cases hundreds more observational sightings -- not only in North America but in many parts of the world. Only a person who wishes to bury his head in the sand of unreality can now deny that the discs exist.

SOME CONCLUSIONS FACTUALLY SUPPORTED

From the facts carefully amassed by Mr. Keyhoe, from newspaper reports and other reasonably trustworthy sources of information the following conclusions may be stated.

1) Our earth is now under observation by "space ships" or some type of unearthly craft which are unknown to the science of our times. Historical researches indicate, by the way, that there were reports of similar phenomena over the United States as early as 1873 -- thirty years before our first airplanes!

2) These airships have a speed and maneuverability almost beyond conception. Radar trackings from Japan, also across Canada and Newfoundland show estimated speeds of ten thousand miles per hour. At White Sands, New Mexico, discs appeared during experimentation with rockets - - and ballistics experts calculated the speed of one disc going away at 18,000 miles per hour! As far as we know, there is no earth craft capable of exceeding two thousand miles per hour. It is incredible that the Russians or any other earth people have ships of such speed. There are no known power plants or sources of energy capable of such propulsion.

Our pilots when observing the discs report that they maneuver with rapidity and angularity far beyond that of any of our aircraft. They are unable to understand how any pilot could withstand such banks and turns and live.

3) Since these ships do not seem to be of earthly origin, the only conclusion open to men of scientific training (like Mr. Keyhoe) is that they are interplanetary in origin. In fact, our earth seems to have been under observation from another planet or planets for at least two centuries.

4) The very considerable increase of such observational flights by space ships in very recent years suggests a connection with the atomic bomb explosions beginning in July, 1945. These tremendous explosions must be observable as a highly unusual earthly event, and these other intelligent beings are gathering data for their records of us.

5) While a great many of our sightings have reported disc-shaped craft, others have reported projectile, cigar-shaped or submarine-shaped airships. They are of different sizes -- some of the discs as small as an automobile tire, and others possibly up to one thousand feet in diameter. The projectile-shaped craft are large -- at least one hundred feet long and thicker than our B-29 bombers.

6) The source of their power is a tremendous mystery. One writer suggests that it is a far greater secret than the hydrogen bomb. Undoubtedly one reason for official reticence about the discs is fear lest this power secret, if discovered, should fall into the hands or minds of possible earthly enemies.

It is highly improbable that our scientists have yet gained the secret of this marvellous power of propulsion. It is probably electro-magnetic in some way now unknown to us.

7) Our government is following the policy of letting these startling facts "leak out" slowly. Gradually the public will receive them, and accommodate thought as in the case of the atom bomb and other modern marvels.

UNANSWERED QUESTIONS

The above facts are amazing in their import and suggest that we are truly entering a new age of human history. But they only whet our intellectual appetite for more information! In the absence of tested or observed facts the tendency of the human mind is to theorize, to speculate carefully -- using intuition and logic wherever possible. Consider the following momentous questions, and our attempt to provide at least partial answers:

1. WHERE DO THESE AIRSHIPS COME FROM? If they are not earth ships, then the obvious answer seems to be an interplanetary origin -- perhaps Venus, Mars or one of the nearest stars. The distances involved are incredibly great, requiring almost unbelievable speeds for this interplanetary travel.

In the absence of direct information or unassailable facts it is the unfailing human tendency to manufacture them. Thus we hear statements that these ships are from Tibet, Java, from the polar regions, or from great caverns under the earth. One is reminded of tales of the "underworld" of ancient philosophers. Socrates spoke of this nether region in Plato's "Phaedo" dialogue.

Meade Layne and his research associates of San Diego, California, offer the hypothesis that these aircraft are of etheric origin -- that is, they come from another dimension of being or level of consciousness and vibratory manifestation. This is a very engaging theory. It may well be true, and appeals to us considerably. Mr. Layne suggests that they come from no physical planet in the heavens -- but from the etheric Venus and some of the so-called distant stars. They objectify as earth-matter when nearing our atmosphere, but find their origin and home in a far different energy-potential or dimension of the universe.

IS THE UNIVERSE STILL CELLULAR?

Those familiar with the written instruction of the Holloway School recall our espousal of the cellular theory of the universe. This theory on first reading sounds as fantastic as the flying discs, but upon mature consideration it claims our respect if not allegiance.

The surface of the earth is a concave curvature (saucer-like) and the cosmic space within the hollow sphere which is the earth contains the sun, moon, planets and all the stars of the heavens. This sounds foolish to a person nurtured on the Copernican system which underlies modern astronomy. However, along with other immense changes of the coming few years (which the advent of the discs will hasten) we predict a revolution in cosmological theories. The ideas of Layne and his associates are in fundamental harmony with the World Cell theory.

The dimensions of the universe which modern science gives us are entirely faulty. Resting upon false assumptions and premises, they can only be incorrect. The truth about the flying discs, when it comes, will force a complete change in our conceptions of space and time -- and the heavens above.

2. WHY ARE THEY NOW APPEARING SO FREQUENTLY? As said before, our release of atomic energy and our intent to use it destructively is conceivably a matter of concern to other intelligent beings. The discs are obviously obtaining observational reports on our rockets, aircraft, airfields and atomic developments. They are gathering data upon which to formulate their plans and policies.

While we can offer no proof of this contention, it is our belief that they will somehow intervene, if necessary, to see that there will be no world-wide use of atomic bombs, with their terrible release of the deadly products of nuclear fission.

We predict recurrent crises and tribulations during the coming years,

The releases of atomic energy already have disturbed the "weather-control" system of the earth, which accounts for the freakish weather conditions in many parts of the world. A more general release of such radiations could conceivably make the earth uninhabitable, and do vast damage in the etheric regions -- if there be such.

The discs are also probably here to observe coming seismic disturbances -- changes and reverberations in the earth's crust which can be expected before long.

Our diplomats and military men are treading the dismal road to war. We are drifting steadily into conflict, if current thinking and policies are continued. Would the dramatic visitation of intelligent beings from another part of the universe bring us to our senses? It is conceivable, and God willing, it will be so!

3. ARE THEY FRIENDLY? Yes, it is entirely logical to assume that they are. The discs and flying projectiles represent a science that is far ahead of ours. It is entirely possible that the civilization they represent is far ahead of us in culture, morality and spirituality. They probably hold us "in their power" now, if they cared to exert their might. Only their wisdom and deeper understanding forbids their enslavement or destruction of our divided world.

Undoubtedly these ships could be very dangerous if attacked. Our pilots should certainly be instructed not to molest them. One wonders if Captain Mantell showed hostility and his ship was disintegrated in reply. We remember the fantasies of science-fiction; perhaps if they have such secrets of propulsion, they also have a "death-ray" that could be terribly destructive. But again we emphasize the apparent friendliness of the celestial visitants. We should offer friendship and attempt to signal and welcome them for earthly contact.

Are they similar to earth-people? No authenticated reports are available as to whether any of these airships have landed on earth. Many rumors and unverified reports are circulating to this effect. One of our students received from a trustworthy friend a letter purporting to give details of the crashing of two flying discs near a radar station in the southwestern United States. These space ships were supposedly powered and controlled magnetically; they had no visible power plant. In each ship was a crew of two men -- dead. Their bodies were similar to ours, except that they were only three feet in height. They were blond, beardless, and their teeth were without fillings or cavities. Their clothing was a blue material unknown on earth; they wore no undergarments but their bodies were taped. The men were seated in a cockpit about six feet in diameter, with a ring about eight feet across and two feet thick surrounding the cockpit. It is supposed that in flight the ring revolves at high speed while the cockpit remains stationary.

This report is highly interesting, but unfortunately it is without verification. If such crash landings are a fact, the civilian population is not receiving authenticated reports about them.

THE APOCALYPSE IS NEAR

Events are moving so rapidly that our minds almost whirl in dizziness and exhaustion. A tremendous time of reckoning seems to be closing in upon us. It is very likely that the sightings of the ships from space will become more numerous. We should do all we can to prepare the way for their peaceful reception.

Undoubtedly they are observing our signs of readiness for communication with them. Their observations will include our radio, television and other high frequencies. Perhaps they are becoming familiar with our earth languages and planning effective means of communication with us. They are patiently waiting for our fears to subside, until we are ready for normal and educative contact.

Imagine their tremendous potential impact upon our science, religion, philosophy, arts and crafts! The information they undoubtedly possess could advance our earth science several centuries at one dramatic stroke. The KNOWLEDGE they can bring will revolutionize our interpretations of life. They should have fascinating disclosures for our medical men and biologists, for our physicists and chemists, psychologists -- for priests and philosophers.

Will they confirm our theories of reincarnation and karma? What will they tell us of the after-life, of the nature and functions of the etheric or multi-dimensional world? Will they unlock the doors which hold secrets of evolution, cosmic purpose, true human nature and destiny, the fate of man?

WE SHOULD NOT FEAR

The greatest obstacle to their proper coming is mass ignorance and fear. Those who have much to lose in the enlightenment and liberation of humanity may stir up panic and mass hysteria. The task of every intelligent, moral and awakened individual in the coming times of tribulation and bewilderment is to stand firm without fear, to trust in God and the beneficent purpose behind overwhelming events.

The coming years present an opportunity, probably unequalled in history, of mass initiation -- of the raising of collective and individual consciousness to a higher level than ever before achieved on earth.

The bitter death-struggle between communism and capitalism will be resolved, without destroying humanity, on a higher level of understanding. The absurdities of atheistic communism and the self-seeking of typical capitalism will be resolved in the higher synthesis of the long-awaited NEW ORDER OF THE AGES, heralded now by the coming of the flying discs. Great times of transcendent import are near at hand. Let us meditate, think, pray and act wisely -- like true philosophers.

Addendum: We invite our readers to share with us their information on the flying discs and other strange craft. We shall be highly interested in your reaction to this article. Have you additional suggestions as to our preparations for receiving these unusual visitors -- also thoughts as to their origin and meaning?

Prepare yourself inwardly, in consciousness and will, for stirring events and disclosures. Remember, as Socrates said, that no evil can befall the good man in this world or the next. Out of all this seeming confusion and trial will evolve Good for the human family. Our earth school is about to receive some fascinating new lessons, which will be difficult for some but highly acceptable to aspiring souls.

Men of these unearthly craft, we offer friendship and good-will! Come, share with us the knowledge we have, and instruct us in your supernal wisdom. We affirm the Brotherhood of Life everywhere!
