Hey Parents!

Please read this story with your child to help them follow the bow-tying instructions at the back of the book. It can be extra fun if you make a game of it. Grab some long ribbons and follow the moves as the fox creates the bunny ear bow.

Bonus: The bunny ear bow exercise may also be used to learn to tie shoelaces.

Happy Reading!

Sybrina Durant

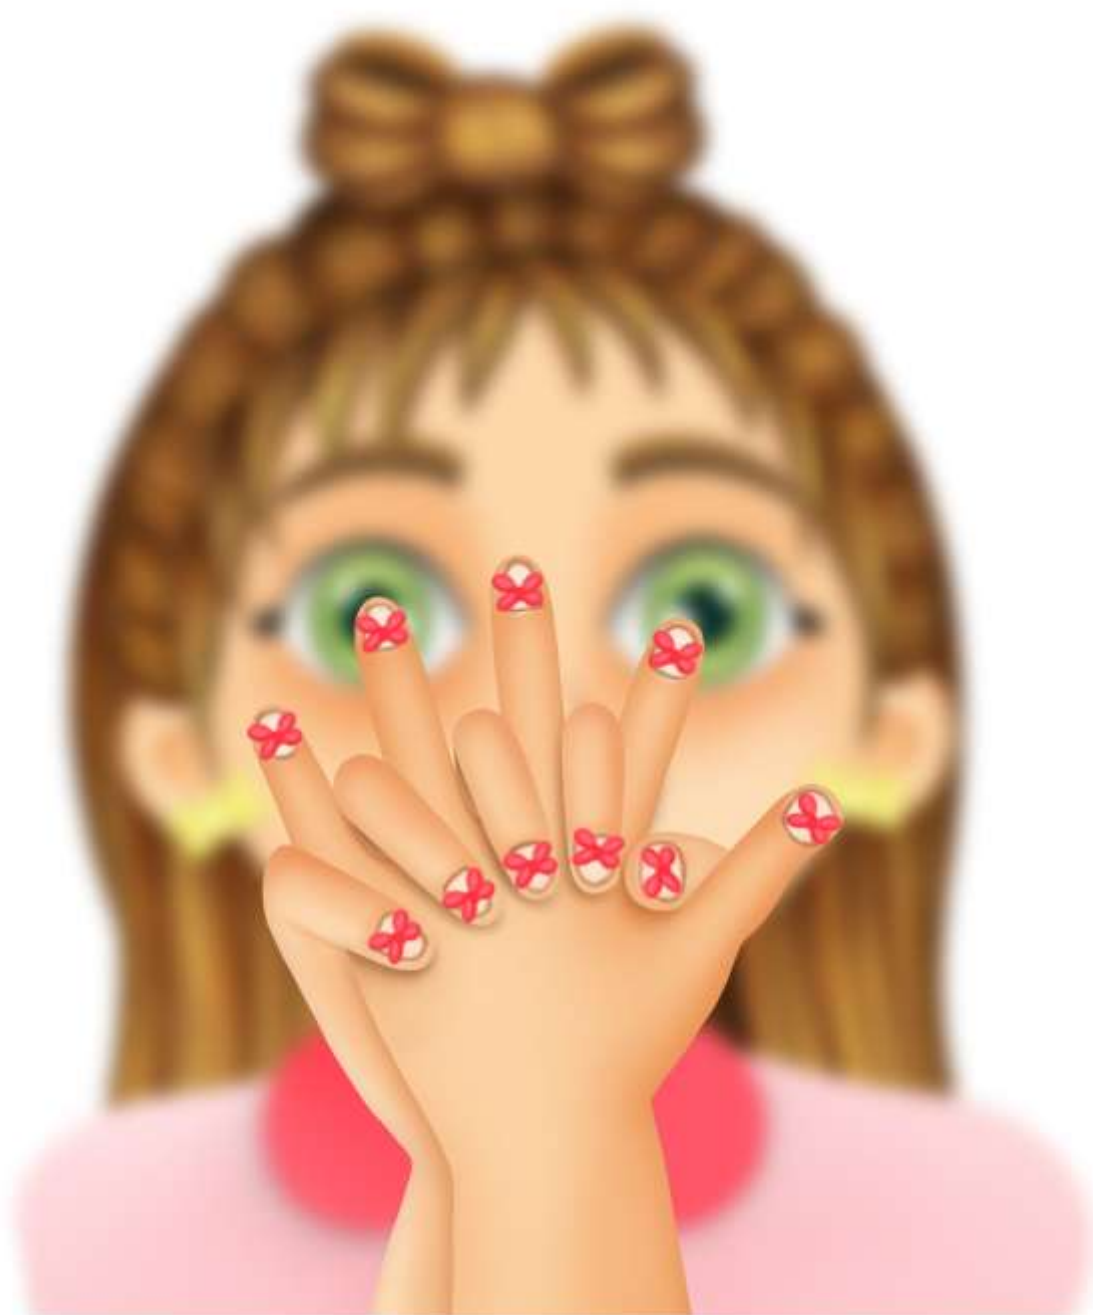

Little Cleo loves bows.

Cleo wears her hair
in a bow.

Cleo has a pretty bow sash
on her dress.

Cleo even paints cute
little bows on her nails.

All of Cleo's shoes are tied with big bows, too.

Cleo really loves bows.

Her entire bedroom is filled with bows.

There are bows
on the bed.

There are bows on the windows.
Ooh, look...butterflies !

Cleo loves butterflies.
They remind her of bows.

Cleo's bedroom walls are decorated with hair bows and butterflies.

Inside-out Bow

Pinwheel Bow

Side Loop Bow

Twisted Boutique Bow

Double Ruffle Bow

There are lots of different kinds of bows and Cleo loves them all.

Cleo likes to tie her bunny's ears into a bow. She calls this the "bunny ear bow."

Here's a story that helps her tie the "bunny ear bow" exactly the same way
every time.

Once there was a bunny
who had very, very long ears.

Cleo Can Tie A Bow

A Rabbit And Fox Story

Cleo loves bows. She wears her hair in a bow and decorates her room with bows. Cleo is bow crazy.

Learning to tie a bow is very difficult for some people but Cleo remembers how to do it from a cute story she once heard. It is about a little rabbit with very long ears and a very helpful fox who shows her what to do to keep them clean. This is the story of how Cleo learns to tie a "bunny ear" bow.

Exercises in manual dexterity build self-esteem in children. Knowing how to tie shoe-strings, scarves and more into a bow is a useful and rewarding skill.

"Teach a child a useful skill. Build confidence and self-esteem that lasts a lifetime."
