

Celestial

Inferno

Poems of Another Realm

By: Aaron Ozee

Breaking Home

Trailing towards the path of tears
Escaping the truth of an unspeakable fear
Burning sorrow
Withered soul
Tearing through the heart kept home
Realm of shame
Forever will roam
Eternally rendered
Swollen and alone

Judgment

The shadow of the mask of fear
Fear only fears, fear itself
The brightness of night and moon
The bitter cold and freezing point
The talent of listening and tolerance
Time changing at the precipice of humanity
The moral form of greed and pride
The grasp of life and success
Are lost on the journey to eternal brilliance
In the minds of men and their makers
On the perplexing path of self righteousness
That ventures deeper and deeper into the human soul When the sudden realization of judgments against yourself and others higher than your standards and superiority
That comes face to face with self doubt and dramatic blasphemy

The Nightmare

Quivering and shaky with shivering bones
The fire has broken the sky and distant zones
His mind is filled with howls and voices
Unable to make decisions or choices
The hallways filled with foul moans
All he could hear were cries and groans
The full moon hovering over the nightly shadow
The sun eclipsed and created a nightly glow
The feelings of awkwardness trembled down to his feet
Nothing more painful could come close or meet
His flesh became raw and turned bitter cold
His heart beat he could not even manage or hold
His fingers quickened as he gasped for a last breath
Then there appeared in his midst, it was no one else except for death
He entered a nightmare from which he could not wake
It was up to death for his soul to take His memories and thoughts became far from reach
As his conscience rested down for its eternal sleep

Deeper

I sat in silence in my wooden chair, in the middle of the dark, having no despair
The smell of blood coming up underneath my feet and the stench of rotting meat
The pounding of hands and fists, trying to come up and grab my wrists
As the screams and howls made a smell dreadful and most foul They came up and took me, I did not scream or yell when they pulled me into hell
They punished me for what I had done, I could not even struggle or run For they cast me into the darkness forever, I could not escape, not now and not ever
The sounds of screams beneath the floor, ceased to continue never more

Night and Day

Stressors and strains are forcefully shown
The day holds still, as time is slowed
The sun and moon are never as one
The pointless feuds cannot end or be done
The conflict over this trouble some world
Makes nature itself tremble and swirl
As peace and balance are fractured and crumbled
The problem as a whole has fatefully tumbled Angered purposes are now fallen and broken
As an enlightened solution has now been reopened
So as long as the day holds strong and stable
The renewal of age will be easily able

Residing Darkness

Blood stained blade
Putrid stench glazes forge
As the silent moon eternally eclipses light
Festering mutiny permeates through out the realms of darkness
When smoldering heat of molten flames rises from beneath the depths
The holy rescue is forcefully banned from pity existence Earth is then stripped from stability and the arena of spite is exposed
The lord of damnation is therefore idolized and has triumphantly risen
Only to reveal the irrevocable truth of an unfaithful new vision

Confinement

Dark meeting light
Forever shadowing my sanity
As I am forced to surrender myself to the blasphemous oath
When festering inferiority consumes my inner being I am stripped of my timely values as the grace of life, evaporates from my grasp
I evolve into disgust and am ever muted from the mercy of the almighty
The spawn of flame rivets my world with everlasting shame and despise
My existence is doomed and my life will never again revise
For in this place they all call hell, I shall wait and eternally dwell

Ascension

Grace upholds gift
Surrendering the need to anger ones self
Making the memorable touch of bewildering passion
Rivet the soul with noble temptations
For your purpose hence rewarded with individuality
Forever reuniting the timeless era of superiority
The essential action of cleansing the heart bound burden of treachery and despise
Is repeated with effortless ignition towards enlightenment
As the breaching ideals scourge the need for supreme intellect
When the entity of premonition passes through state of reason
The everlasting invasion of pure tranquility replaces the hollow shell of deceiving intent
For my inspiring example is therefore upheld with meaningful praise
The almighty shall give his command and all that follow me will be raised

Lust

Loving the loins of unlawful leisure
Exploring the realms of luring pleasure
Never sustaining, never forgetting
The treasures of woe, that men try getting Deceitful play, lingering lie
Escaping fate, before I die
The sums of regret, I cannot forget
For I withdraw, from twisted fall
Swirling illusions, tempting delusions
I am forever lost

Never Ending Zeal

My heart stood alone
Frozen in the icy depths within my soul
Fire could not melt, nor love could free it Like broken glass, my soul fell apart,
Falling slowly towards the barren floor and coming to an erupting halt
For the bitter sensation of emotional separation pierced my flesh like burning salt
And as the flame of passion for the ones I loved most died out
I became lost
Lost within my heart, searching for the woman I loved or once loved
And for many years my journey for heartfelt relief, painfully faded away Far away from reach
And as I neared my end, what will of life I had left I used to comfort myself
Cowering up, like a burnt tree leaf on an unbearable winter night
Never feeling the warmth of zeal again
I laid there, eyes frozen open, to eternally gaze upon the distant horizon that overshadowed my soul
Doomed to long for something so dear, that in which I could not even grasp
And as the hope that relief would come, stood absent
Only pain took its place
No human being could withstand that much suffering
No spirit could survive that much infraction
But still I did
Something held on and would not let me go
Something remained in that pit I once called heart
And as I peered into the blackened abyss
I saw her
Eyes blue as the Caspian sea
Hair so evenly woven like Persian cotton
Skin as smooth as honey milk
And beating heart, shining out like the rising sun
My hand raised slightly within the air, but absent from love, the strain was too much to bare
My arm gave out and returned slowly, back to the icy plane
Moments retreated steadily
And as my body remained still, hand touched hand
My eyes fluttered open
Ice turned to water and cold turned to heat
The silence was broken
As my true love grabbed held of my hand
My step became stable and vision was returned
As my first sight was no one else, except for her
My eyes fixed within hers and hers within mine Resuming the acting flow, of space and time
My heart reopened

Silent Emotion

Waiting in silence
In depressing gloom
Feeling the idea that I'm eternally doomed
Blocked from sun
Blocked from rain
For the permanent quiet
Could not be slain
Sensations and temptations
No need for translation
When it comes down to this Undoubted damnation
Freedom will haunt
With unsettling taunts
Now I will say
That on this day
I will not pray
My troublesome soul
In hell it shall stay

Face to Face

Willowed words of stranger foe
Cascading down into beyond and low
Mystical winds of the guessed and unknown Reason is shadowed from being shown
Hidden from sight of slightest gaze
Radiating fog and concealing haze
Trapping the light of the upcoming days
Cornering me into this baffling maze
For now and forever am I stuck this way Consuming me whole with the fiery blaze
I shall meet him, face to face
For he will cast me out, with great disgrace
My spirit will perish under sinister reign
With the devil himself, I will remain

Fallen Love

Fallen for her
Neither thinking nor decisions
Could decide my love for this woman
The search for heaven had stopped
In my heart, I knew my journey was done
For when I saw her
I knew she was the one
Distractions or infractions could not come between For she was the only woman, just for me
And for the first time in my life, my soul, had lifted free
Released from sorrow
Relieved from pain
My passion for her, could not be restrained
The tempo of time
Slowed down within my mind
For we had joined
And life to come
Was there on, thanked and enjoyed
But as time moved on Moments became days
And days became years
For age had struck
And the ending of our time on earth, was trailing near So one morning on a painful winter day
I woke up, but yet she stayed Movement was absent
Voice was mute
She, I had lost
Lost from my arms
Lost from my days
For she had left this world
On this painful winter day
Though my heart was consumed by great pain
My love for her could not be stained
For in the moment of my true loves death
Realization had filled my mind, with one single breath
I realized
Though my only love had left the living and passed on Part of me she took with her, from here on earth and into the beyond
For deep down in my heart
Forever and ever
She will always Always
Be, my one

Seven

One, I am dead done
Two, I pass on through Three, Into the world of free
Four, I could never want more
Five, I have been revived
Six, No need to fix
Spirit has lifted
High in the clouds
Is where I can be found
With god at my side
Is where ill reside
For on the count of seven
I was taken
Into gods kingdom
Of an eternal heaven

Devilish Dice

Better and best at last have met
Gambling over their unsettled debt
Cards are placed and wages are set
Each landing a blow, with one final bet
Battling it out, till the last sunset
Concentrating hard, without breaking sweat Eyes remained fixed, without slight fret
For the devil and I, were not done yet
As he placed his and as I placed mine
We endlessly struggled and could not decide
The victor was shown and was widely known
For the struggle was over and now was past
Only to reveal, that I had beaten him at last

Sunken Gold

Fate has placed its burdens with haste
Simmering down to bottom of my soul
Ravenously spinning far out of control
For the weight of my sins were too much to hold
My spirit had been stripped from its everlasting gold
So did my body turn from sweet warm to bitter cold
As I surrounded myself with this unbearable load
I could not repay this blood riveted toll
For it had left me hidden in this dark, deep, hole
The easy way out could not be shown
As I wandered endlessly upon this light absent shoal
My life had been taken, smuggled, and sold

You

Who is to judge?
Who is to blame?
Who has the courage to come up and claim?
Who can stand out, without feeling pain?
Who can shout out, dispelling their blame?
Who can remain strong and not be slain?
Who can withstand and not complain?
Who can act well and not be framed?
Who can stand still and have proper aim?
Who can stay dry under the rain?
Who can keep cool near the fiery flame?
Who can hold the lord sacred and not take him in vain?
Who can be perfect and do all these things?
Who can be chosen and be proudly named?
No one
No one is perfect
You're just you

Forever

For many years I have longed for compassion
Until I found you and love was no longer rationed You've earned every touch, every emotion
Because when I am with you
I give you nothing else, except my devotion
I love you more
I love you forever
I am not devious, sly, nor clever
For you will see in these future years
As I will make sure
That you shall never endure
Another ounce of pain, regret, or fear
For I will always Always
Be here

Carving The Image

The sands of decision are neither expected or timed
The strings of destiny are not perfect nor aligned
For on one final fate, you cannot certainly rely Your life, your end, is up to you to decide
Only you can control your life, not others
Neither uncle, sister, nor brother can tell you the way you should live Only you can determine the amount of success that you give For life should stay sacred, kept, and owned
Who you make yourself, only you, just you, can show

Together

Without love you feel as if you hit a dead end Lingering thoughts of grief seem unable to defend When love stands as something in which you cannot believe Just open your eyes, stay still, listen, and you'll achieve
For when you hold love most dearest to your soul
Deep down in your heart you will have reached that goal
Reaching the point of never being alone
For love will hold stable, solid, acting as your home
True happiness comes not as jewels or gold
But as something you have to slowly work at and continuously mold
For when you have at last found your only true love Never feel as if you are stuck and that you have to leave Because together as one, you can build your life, prosper, and be

Resting Place

To the ends of the earth, is where I have fled
Where there is no pain and no tears are shed
A place of wonder, filled with mystique
Where no one is judged, with emotional critique
This reality is certain, not fake, but real
For here my soul can finally rest, be free, and heal
I am at peace

Full Stage

Do you feel the warmth?
Do you feel the heat?
Do you feel the vibrations of that strumming beat?
Is your blood rising?
Is it really that surprising?
That the only person you feel for, is me
Baby,
I can make it special
I can make it be
With the snap of my fingers
Like one, two, three
For you just have to ask
I won't put you to the task
Just forget about the past
Because you are my director and I am your cast
Now let's put on a show and make this one last

Burning Needs

Filling your head with my mesmerizing feed
There's no reason to study, there's no purpose to read
All I want is you, only you, is all I will ever need
For you've been planted in my mind, like a constant growing seed
I covet you with love, I hoard you with greed
I'm the only one that has loved you Open up your eyes, look clear and see Forgetting you is not an option
For I will never, ever Leave

Lethal Bearings

This is my path, this is my choice
Lean in close and hear my voice
Are you listening good?
Well, you probably should Because I will say it once and ill say it straight
For on this one single night
I have decided my fate
Ill break it down clear
No need to squint, no need to peer
It was my own, the decision was mine
So with all due respect, be calm, be kind
The past is the past
For this was my final and this was my last
I have ended my life today
And only thing to do now
Is to turn around and look away
For deep within your arms, I will no longer stay
Because I have left your life
So don't be filled with worry nor consumed with strife
The memory of me has been ruined, broken, and destroyed
The results of my wrong doing, have now been enforced and employed Shame I do not cradle nor comfort or enjoy Forgetting starts now
Let it begin, let it deploy

Deceiving Perfection

Guys want the perfect girl
Girls want the perfect guy
Girls want the guy who won't deceive them or be sly Guys want the girl that will be faithful and be by their side
Girls want the guy who will accept them for who they are and not be denied Guys want the girl who will support him on no matter what he may decide Girls want the guy that stands up for them no matter what may be the crime Guys want the girl who not only shines from the outside, but also as in the inside
Girls want the guy that will be there to comfort them when they cry
Guys want the girl that will show them off and not be shy
As they both want a relationship they can be proud of and not have to hide
But in all reality, this is not even possible and ill tell you why
No relationship ever lasts, when both partners continue to lie

Innovative

Life should be nurtured
Dreams should be fed
No idea is useless
It just needs to be lead
Give it your focus, give it your mind
For it will grow slightly, from time to time
If you listen to your tips and follow every sign
Your plan will have turned, into a grand master design
It may start out weak; it may start out small
But if given your guidance
It will grow ever so tall
For if success is which you most desperately seek Then commemorate others great successes, why not take a peek?
You may learn something of value, you may learn something unique
It may help your dream to have formed, into something more concrete
If you make dedication your key and let yourself be inspired
Your hard work will have been rewarded, with anything you've desired

Never Again

Endless nights of heart broken shame
You are the cause, you are to frame
Is hurting me inside, your way of a game?
You left me, stranded, at the far edge of a concealing guilt
I can never catch my balance, for I will forever wobble and tilt
As I am forced to question myself, who am I really?
Am I not the man who gave you his life?
Was I not your first love?
Were we not gifted with graces and goods from above?
I wasn't just a stranger, I was your man
I filled your every need; I attended your every command
I gave you all your desires, but still, you continued to demand
It seemed as enough wasn't enough
For you never were that easy, you remained stubborn and tough
Because when ever it came down to me
My own needs, you totally ignored and refused to ever see
There's no need to guess
There's no need to debate
This ending is certain
That coming back to me, is far past late
For when I think of you
All I can ever feel, is everlasting hate Feeling my love once again within your heart, you will most definitely lack
For you will come around, you will want me back
You may want to talk about what happened in the past
You may say you were stupid, you may say that mistake was your last
But, in the end you will ask me that question
"Can you ever love me again like you once did"?
I will respond.
"When we were together, I had tried my hardest, I had did my best, but no more, for you have stolen my heart from deep within my chest, so just get a life and join the rest"
Never again will I be yours, I'm done

Getting Away

You want her
She doesn't want you
No matter if she rejects
The idea still won't get through For you will give
And she will take
This is all false
This is just fake
Can you see it now?
Or is it too late?
Can you be that blind?
Stricken from the truth
As you are from your mind
Turning your thoughts, from clear to hazy
Driving you mad, making you crazy
You want her to love, you want her to feel
But, she will only sneak and steal
She'll steal your love
She'll sever your gain
She'll hurt you inside
She'll cause you great pain
For being with her
You cannot remain
Get out now!

Resistance

It may make you feel good
It may make you feel strong
You know it is bad, you know it is wrong
You knew from the start, that it could kill you all along
It may seem cool, but in the end you will be fooled
For you will be controlled and you will be lead
You will no longer want it, when you're on the floor, lifeless and dead
You are the fish and it is the bait
If you bite down, well I'm afraid it's too late
You have not only made a decision, but you have forever shaped your fate
So listen in close, for there is a solution
There is only one way, that you can avoid this pollution
Never think you can't do it, pull it together, don't throw a fit
For the time is now, you can start, you can quit
Get off drugs.

The Beast

The hour of death draws near Signs have been shown
Fear has appeared
For there lies a demon
There thrives a beast
Always hungry
And ready to feast
The hunger is rising
A plan to kill
It is carefully devising
When will it strike?
Will it be tonight?
It is unknown on when it will act
It is unpredictable, this is a fact
Who will be first?
Who will be the one, to satisfy its thirst?
How many will it need?
It's hungry now
It needs to feed
Will it be one?
Or will it be many?
The thought of it all
Just seems too uncanny
Apply your protection, secure your gear
Wait!
Be quiet.
It is coming, I can feel it near Listen carefully
For the beast is here
It strikes now, get prepared
Are you frightened? Are you feeling scared?
There will be no help
There will be no aid
For you may ask yourself
"Should I be afraid"?
Let me tell you...
You should be.

Impossible

No...
This can't be Am I dreaming?
If I was there, that would have to mean...
No!
But I wasn't
Or was I?
If she was with him and I was with her
Wait!?
How could this have happened?
She was with me!
Not him.
But, she did say that she was going to...
She couldn't have
It's impossible!
I would have seen it coming!
One minute she was there and then she was gone
But, I could have sworn...
Am I that blind?
Could she have pulled it off?
Did she really?
She did.....

Me and Amber

Where am I going?
I feel as if the river has stopped, but the water continues to keep on flowing
For I got nothing more than a paddle and my home made raft
A big bag of peanuts and a genuine brewed miller draft
For my date for this evening has been officially been made the sun
Baking and heating my body like if it were toasting a crisp hamburger bun
But even though I did not bring along my portable gas grill
It doesn't even matter, for my mind still gives me the same exact thrill
For I can just taste the food by smelling that char burnt smell
And as soon as that happens
I'll open my eyes, clear my throat and say "I'll take mine medium well"
For I don't have to try to create a crystal clear picture
Because as long as I have my brewski in a pitcher
I'll feel just as good when the beer begins to taste so much richer

The First

One moment, that's all it took Love was created, by that one look
There was no reason, it was just karma
We had skipped the pain, we had avoided the drama
Let's destroy the bad and cradle the good
We can make this work, I know we could
You were drawn by me, as I as well
This was love at first sight, I could instantly tell
My mind was made up, as yours was too
For in that moment, we already knew
That this would never be over, nor would we ever be through
I never thought this would happen, nor would it ever come true
For I could never have believed that my first love Had always been and was always meant to be You.

On The Run

There is no time to waste for I'm always on the run
With only a dollar in my pocket and a mere hand gun
For upon my name, has been placed a bounty
Making me known as the most wanted man, in the entire county
For people will not rest till the day of my death
Waiting for the moment, that I have spoken my last breath
For they want me gone and they want me dead
They want revenge for all blood that has ever been shed
For they are ever so concerned to where I have fled
For they will not rest till they have brought back my head Showing their people that their fear has been ended
That their homes had been fought for and their lives had been defended
But this will never happen, for I know something they don't For even if they say that they will kill me, they won't
For the lands that they know will forever remain red Because no matter how close they may get, I will always be one move ahead

Why?

Why?
Why do I come back to her every time we have a fight?
Why do I come to be with her on every single night?
Why do I give her my love, my life, my time?
Why would I ever dream to cross such a dangerous line?
Why do I defend her in the time of her greatest need?
How could such a woman as herself come to be with a guy like me?
For people will always ask.
How could you put up with her? She is no good, she's just a mess
I will say back
"I don't know....Its just love I guess"

Wild

If you can't show me your love and you can't give me your commitment I'll go ahead and replace your so called pride, with pure resentment
For I don't need you, I can have any girl I choose It's always a score for me, I can never lose
I can have anyone I want or anything I need
I don't have to hold myself back, I'll go right ahead and express my inner greed
For I will never have regrets on the paths that I have chosen to heed
But instead, I'll take my choice, remember it, and praise the deed
Because everything that happened was because of you and not me
For I'm glad that it's over, I finally get to be free
I can finally be my own man and not be under your control Because you can never change me, I'll tell you right now, you'll never reach that goal
For when I'm not with you, I act crazy, I act wild
I won't act like an adult, I'll act like a damn child
I'll say what I please and I'll do what I want
I'll be a little pest and tease you with taunts
For I won't be all good, I'll go and be bad I'm not the guy I said I was, I'm not the guy you once had For no matter how many times I may sin
My cards will still play right and I will always win

Land of Lore

Love is that world that you always have to explore
There is only peace, no fighting, no war
Here everyone is accepted no matter if rich or poor
This is a place in which you can never ignore
For in this world, you will feel something like never before
And if you keep on searching, more and more
You will soon find that one single door
The door that will lead you into that land of lore
Where the wonders of passion wait in store

Dread

She ripped, she tore
My own beating heart
She crushed into gore
Making my mind rub together like friction
Setting my motives to a colliding collision
This is her hobby, this is her addiction
To constantly cause, emotional infliction
Sending my soul to its own crucifixion
For an eternity of pain has been made my conviction
She has made her plan, she has made her prediction
That she will tear me down, piece by piece
Until she has witnessed that my life has ceased

Test Me

I'm the king, I'm the star
I'm that guy at the end of the bar
Waiting for you, to come on through
And come have a drink with me
I'm not so bad; I am a one of a kind man
I'm the kind of person you could actually stand
I do talk nice, but don't always play fair
I'm the kind of guy, that would accept any dare
So dare me on anything, anything at all
Because believe me, I won't easily fall
Give it a try, tempt me if you like Just don't be shocked
When the true results strike
For I guarantee, that by the end of your drink
You won't have to wonder, you'll already think That I'm not average, but I am the best
Because I already know, that I am not like the rest
For I'm the only man, to ever pass your test

Fight It

I cannot stand, the spreading of the rumor
For it grabs your attention, like a festering tumor
Ruining friendships and tearing the ties
Deceiving people, mind after mind
Clouding their thoughts, lie upon lie
Forever trapped under the never thawing ice
Consuming my life, like new born lice
Eating my soul, bit by bit
Cutting me up, slit by slit
Starting a spark that cant be put out
The fight will go on, I have no such doubt
For the flame has been made and the fire has been lit
Because when I get involved, that will be the end of it

Life Story

You're quiet and alone in your private kept nook
Writing and reading your life dreamt book
For the amount of time that you grabbed and took You created an ending that's sharper than the hook
The plot is brilliant, the characters are bold Making this book, just an honor to hold
Replacing the pages, with silver and gold
Rendering it priceless and unable to be sold
For when you reach the sudden coming climax
It will throw you on the edge to where you cannot relax
So please don't wait for the story to be told
For the conclusion of this tale, won't easily unfold
Just go to the first page and see that first word
For only then will its true meanings be heard

Boogeyman

I feel shy and somewhat weary
Afraid of its power and questionable fury
For it haunts the night, like an invisible creep Counting the moments, as you stay sound asleep
It may act helpless, seeming crippled and weak
But as you gain first sight, you see that it's a freak
Its against nature, it's against god
Its stranger than even, its own birth pod
For when this creature, came unto this world
The first person who saw it, got ill and hurled
For it is demented, it is sick
A new found caution, will automatically click Making you aware, of things you should beware
For if you're not warned, you'll be in for a scare l'amour cherché

This wasn't planned, this wasn't expected
The memory of you, has been crossed off and sectioned
I thought we were good, I thought we had a deal
Or was it just something fake and far from being real?
For you loved me and I loved you
But suddenly you called me up and said we were through
I was in shock and did not know what to do
You left me baffled and stuck without a clue
During that day, I thought and thought
And in seconds, a conclusion was spotted and caught
It told me that love is not something, that can be won or bought
But as something, that has to constantly be sought Making you express, all your emotions
Turning your love, into one powerful notion

Shutters and Sighs

I'm getting sick and tired of things being hidden
Let's just lay out our cards and let all lies be ridden
For this is something in which we deeply need to discuss
We need to catch ourselves now before something terrible happens between us
So for this conversation let us be clear and let us be straight
Let's try to avoid all anger and suppress all hate
Don't feel like your stranded and don't know where to turn
Don't feel as if you have to back out now and save yourself the burn
I just want the truth
Sheila...
Just tell me the truth and the truth alone...
For I don't want a story nor an excuse...
Just tell me right now...
Look me in the eyes and tell me...
Have you been cheating on me?
Sheila did not speak.
She made no attempt what so ever to even reply
She just crossed her arms, stared at the ground, and made a troubling sigh
And from that
I only thought of one thing and one thing only...
I just wondered...why?

Poison

She's deadly like poison and toxic as waste
She's painful by the look and terrible by the taste
A soul of sin and a heart of steel
The image of her is almost too unbearable to feel
For no matter how many times you may think that its too crazy to be real
One day you will let down your guard and in a matter of moments
She will have hurt you to a point where you are unable to heal
For she is the closest thing to evil that your ever going to get Because once she's done her damage
The memory of her is something in which you will never forget

Out

Get out of my face you stark raving whore
Go back to your jungle where you were mistakenly born
I'm done with you, I can't take this anymore
I don't want to see you near my house nor ever at my door
For no longer are you a joy, you just annoy and bother Always getting on my case
Hell!
You like my own damn father
Telling me what to do and telling me what I should follow
For you don't care what I say
You just make sure I take it and swallow
Ingesting your pain, ingesting your hate
Paying for your evil and paying for your mistakes
But, no more!
For I know the difference between right and wrong
I'm finally taking action
For this is something I should have done all along
I collected my money and packed up my stuff
I'm walking out this door
Sorry
But, I've had enough!

Marks

Every pathetic moment of my troubled life
Has been painfully recorded by the slice of a knife
For too many times have I been alone, angered, or pissed
I remember them too well each time I look at my wrist For I am unable to decide on what memories I keep It all just depends on the cut and how deep
For my mind is like a cliff that is ever so steep
I stand on the edge, waiting
Waiting to let go and make my one final leap
For I already know that I will eventually meet my end
It all just comes down to not about how or why
But when?

Stacking The Bills

Never have I been to such an elegant dine
This place seems clean, spiffy, and fine
Guests will arrive, with their fancy coats
Driving up in their, custom speed boats
They don't wait for a table, nor do they wait in line
As soon as they pull a hundred from their pocket
They just missed the delay and bought passed the time
For these people are rich, powerful, and strong
But, you may wonder how they all get along
I will tell you that each person there has their own amount of cash
Causing a stir, on how much do they really got hidden in their stash
Who gets seated first?
Who will get to taste the wine before the bubbles burst?
Is it all focused on who is richer than the other?
Or if they own a business with their father or brother?
What is it?
We all seem the same
For we are all rich here, this is for certain
It just depends on which one of us is more on the edge of fame
But, I can tell you this I don't know how much these other people have or how much they really got No matter if its one million dollars or just a mere hundred, regardless, it's still a lot
But, in my eyes, I see that I got the most cash
I got the biggest pot, I got the biggest stash
For no one else can say, they got more money than me Because when I spread open my wallet, I will say Go ahead, take a look and you'll see
For they say they got some, but really, I got more Because when I arrive
My wine glass, will be the first one that they will pour

Formosity

Girls always worry about how they should dress
Frantically panicking when their makeup's a mess
Always wondering on how they differ from the rest Forever concerned on who is the one and only best
For they focus on these things that are entirely useless Changing their ways into acting so ruthless
For they begin to become selfish and very ungrateful
For they are no longer nice, but just right out hateful Though one day will come when they look in the mirror Stunned with shock and terrifying fear Finally seeing to what they've become Noticing that the aging process has already begun
Slowly chipping away at life's great days
For the times of beauty can not always stay

Resist to Persist

Your life is like a game of cards
Sometimes it's easy and sometimes it's hard
For it all just depends on how well you start
Did you start good or just do ok?
Did you give up or did you decide to stay?
For your skill towards your game all comes down to on how often you play
For the way you get better is by practicing every day
It's always a challenge and always a test
You just have to set your mind and try and do your best
For at points in your life it's becomes to much to hold
You then end up depressed and just give up and fold
But you must not!
For in that one moment in when you agreed it was enough
That's when you'll look back and see that you've messed up
For if you don't know, you should listen to this Life is not a contest, nor is it a race
Life should always be taken by your own set pace
For if you are patient and give things space
You might get lucky and pull out an ace

Inner Gorge

I have entered a room
Walls are made of steel, each one battered with fingerprints
Clouded with char and ash with scorch marks from an unbelievable heat Scared with scratches and integrated with nails and teeth
Blood dripping by the drop every few seconds from the ceiling above
For as I begin to direct my attention forward, I notice a small man sitting in a chair positioned at a table
He has no physical characteristics except for his size and texture Body is colored from head to toe with faded grey and a touch of bliss white
He simply sits there calmly faced towards the table with his arms moving slightly back and forth
For as I focus in closer I see lying on the table in front of him is a motionless body of a boy
Stripped from all his clothes
Skin barren towards the freezing temperature of the isolated room
For with my curiosity, I start to slowly approach the scene
As I get closer, a putrid smell of barf and blood permeates throughout my nasal passages Making me twitch and fidget violently in total disgust
Flies begin to gather together before my eyes as I slowly reach the far end of the room
They buzz noisily with such extremity as if they are all waiting for their evening meal
For as the moments retreat steadily, I finally come up silently upon the right side of the man in the chair, over near the boys head
Then, as I caught first glimpse of his face, I froze
My heart stopped in a mere second with the startling realization that the boy lying on the table was in fact....me
I see myself crying heavily; groaning in pure agony as I lie there helpless
Tears of water and blood stream down the sides of my face as they pour out from the bottoms of my eye lids
Teeth in my mouth are chipped and splintered with raw enamel being exposed towards infection
Also...there appears to be a celestial glow over my skin like an outer coat
It quickly diminishes as the seconds pass by and for every second I stand there staring in awe, seems as a second wasted
For I am stunned in total shock as I gaze upon myself not knowing on what to do
Suddenly, my focus is interrupted as I recognize my other self turn his head towards me
Eyes are blood shot, filled with different colored veins straining directly towards the center of the eye ball
For as he looks upon my face, his mood is changed from struggling to shocked
He then quickly bobs his head backwards and then returns with a forward lunge as he screams to me "RUN!"
Grabbing my right hand that was laying at my side near him with extreme force

He holds tightly as he leans his head back upon the flat surface of the table, screaming as loud as his lungs could create Then....
As my vision alters from him to my left, I catch gaze of the most terrifying sight
I had ever laid eyes upon
For I see that my other self is being eaten alive slice by slice with a dinner fork and knife
His stomach has been slashed evenly down the middle and was spread widely open, exposing all internal organs
Each one was oozing out green and yellow bubbling pus every time the knife had returned back to their surfaces to make a new cut At the sight of this, my eyes fly wide open in horror as I stare upon this cannibalistic action Halting all thoughts and emotions that were currently running through my mind, causing time itself to pause momentarily For as I remained still, abruptly, my left shoulder had been grabbed onto, moving my entire body farther left
I was met face to face by the optical fixture of a pair of bright red eyes Teeth as sharp as blades, a smile that reached from one cheek to the other Blood enclosing the outer rims of the mouth with pieces of rubbery flesh still stuck to the front canines
Skin that is scabbed and blistered by burns and bloody sores For its face acts as the mask of death, imprinting the image of an indescribable beast that I myself have never yet seen, until now.
As I recover from my frightful observation of this creature, I bluntly come to a visual realization
This being that sits before me is a lot friendlier than it may seem
For this creature is not just anything....it is also...myself
It is the darkened side of my mind, its stands for all things evil that reside within my subconscious
All the wrong doings that I had ever committed, all of the sins ever carried out towards the world and others Everything
Everything that could influence the sanest person into going insane
For the first time in my life, I have at last looked upon the identity of my inner demon
It had been eating the only good left in my soul Consuming all love, joy, and peace within my heart that I had ever gained or given
For it had been turning who I am in life into the entire opposite Altering my path towards enlightenment and back towards the fiery flames of darkness
I knew that I could not let this deed be completed; I knew that the only one to stop me was me
For my next move was the boldest action I had ever taken in my life time
I grabbed held of the hand on my shoulder belonging to my evil self I threw it back to him using the largest amount of force that my one arm could exert at that time

He snarled and began to foam at the mouth as his eyes interlocked within mine

I screamed out to him "you will never win, for who I really am in life lies there injured upon that table"

"Never will you over come my conscious state of mind for you are nothing"
"Nothing!"

He boisterously screeched out in a piercing tone, accelerating his vocal cords to an outrageous limit

For as he did, he quickly spun around and darted swiftly at the wall, disappearing into the air

I just stood there in amazement towards that recent phenomenon that has just occurred before my very eyes

As I remained stationary, a tap was made upon my shoulder blade, I turned around only to see my other self that had been lying on the table standing right in front of me

Only a smile was upon his face; tears had been dried and glow had been rejuvenated

My soul had been reborn

For in that peaceful stare between us, I knew that I had won

I knew that I had finally beaten the evil that lurked deep within my soul

For there is only one person that can decide towards who you are

You.....you are the one that can lead yourself to be what you were born for

The only thing stopping you from being you is you

Don't let it happen

Be, who you were meant to be

Night of the Maiden

There is a ball
A room full of lit torches positioned at the middle of each wall unit Each one decorated with roman décor, carved from solid ivory and out layered with marble
Eradicating all spectra's of flame upon the ceiling above
Creating an inferno in the heavens Carefully capturing the heat and power of hell into one defined combusted entity
For the beams of illumination of both dark and light are sporadically displayed down upon the dance floor
Layering the cherry wood tiles in a supernatural blanket of coal covered lava Slowly consuming every attendant by their ankles as they all lightly pace side to side with the partner of their choice
Each of which had been uniquely executing their own style of dance
Every step was followed by either a full spin flip or a time curdling twirl For regardless of the exact precision of the movements, specifically all members of the night were in motion towards the current beat A tune that passed through the ears of all with such soothe intent; only to direct everyone's path as they continued to dance Moving their bodies in ways that are erotic, yet vibrant, with a clear representation of sexual creativity
This incorporated a mood into the environment that contained both riveting romance and passionate leisure
Hypnotizing the emotions of all who followed Catching the attentions of all men towards women and all women towards men
For the attractive patterns between both sexes were consistent during every passing moment of the night For particularly there was the concentration of one specific individual; the glamorous gaze of a maiden
She, the hostess of this gathering, with such scrutiny, fixed her desired eyes upon me
I stood at the centre of them all; I, dressed down in pure black, suited in the finest uniform in the entire ball, proudly was represented as nothing else more 107 than as her personal focus for this evening For as her eyes had begun to analyze appearance, my stare has also been caught up by hers as well
She wore a dress that had been wrapped in golden straps of silk Earrings with diamonds at the base that sparkled violently, merely blinding my very vision as I looked upon them
A necklace of emeralds, strung together by a thin sterling silver chain For as all visual pleasures were met as I contently transitioned from her body to her head, my gaze had been halted by the coverage of a porcelain mask
This blocked all facial features from being seen by everyone around It almost seemed as if she had purposely intended for herself to go unnoticed by anyone who may have known her

This though intrigued me greatly as I continued to stare
For we both remained timelessly frozen
All other distractions went unattended; all noise had been muted; only sight was on our side
Interlocking our emotionally longed obligations into one, forming a bridge between my thoughts and hers
Feelings of bewildering wants shrouded our minds to a point of complete awe Slowing the constant rhythm of our heartbeats into a singular tempo Creating a tingling sensation that began to crawl up my legs and into the edges of my hips
I shuttered oddly
Legs were released from muscular pause and feet had been freed from holding stationary
The time had resumed from halt and as did, I started to proceed over towards her
Resulting in me allowing my hand to come forward, hinting my intentions to ask her for a first dance
Without no such distress, she crept a smile and agreed
I had grabbed held of her right hand as it lied limp at her side Pulling her into my grasp, our bodies connected at the exact moment when the music had been changed into a violin symphony
The players had begun with a light gradual frequency that had started off low and slowly rose into a higher pitch 108
Causing it to reach its climax almost instantly
As it did, I placed my hand upon her waist and my other hand within hers, raising both of our right arms into the air
Thus, we started to dance
We began by moving our feet from left to right, carefully trying to stabilize our movements to where they were synced to the flow of the music Basic steps turned into rotations, rotations had turned into spins, spins had altered into flips and the flips had at last led to....magic Perfectly, we had taken the waltz and the forward strut and combined them into a stunning sequence of new found artwork Revealing breakthroughs in dance that had not yet been discovered or even seen since the dawning of its age
For together, I and her were as gods Pushing all others before us, contradicting all that was known to the modern world into our own
Time was no longer a concern, space was no longer limited, it was only me and her
Our night together seemed endless
Never meeting its conclusion and so forth....it never did
For as our dance had come to finish, we had both ended face to face While catching my breath, I reached my hand over her mask and removed it
I was greeted with a pair of beautiful blue eyes Eyes of a woman so magnificent that even Jupiter himself could not obtain

For as her eyes become lost within mine and mine within hers....we kissed
At that moment, for the first time in my life, I had found love
For love can never be tracked, nor can it be arranged
It just happens