America's Pretend Democracy

“For if Men are to be precluded from offering their Sentiments on a matter . . . reason is of no use to us; the freedom of Speech may be taken away, and, dumb and silent we may be led, like sheep, to the Slaughter.”

George Washington, March 15, 1783

If you think America's government is a democracy, you're wrong. We have a “Constitutional Republic,” an outdated form of “democracy.”

If you think you have the “right to vote” in America, you're wrong again. When you vote for a representative, you're not exercising your right to vote, you're sacrificing your right to vote.

Allowing someone to vote on your behalf takes away your vote and the votes of millions of people, handing them instead to a tiny minority of politicians. Such an unfair and antiquated system doesn't make sense in our modern times. Instead, we need to wrest the decision-making power out of the hands of that tiny minority and put it where it belongs, directly into the hands of our tax-paying citizens.

This is called Direct Democracy, and the concept is simple. It is based upon four foundational principles:

1. The purpose of government is to serve the people. Government exists as a tool that we the people create and use to protect and preserve our basic inalienable rights. We do not serve the government; the government serves us.
2. Citizens vote directly on legislation. We're past the point of needing representatives to vote on our behalf.
3. “Representatives” are *randomly selected using an intelligent filtration process. Their role as esteemed public servants is to coordinate, organize, and execute the legislative processes and record the collective, binding votes of the citizens. Representatives have one vote, the same as everyone else.

America's Dangerous Election Cycle

Just as the crowned heads of state in Europe beheld the onset of World War I with paralyzed dread, aware it would ruin them but powerless to stop it, there is a deep fatalism to American politics today. The basic legitimacy of the electoral system is being undermined, the 2024 election likely won't be accepted by around half of all Americans, and the consequences both in the short and long term of this escalating polarization look disastrous. Everyone can sense that a crash is coming, but even if we try to slam on the brakes, it may be that they gave out long ago.

The West's Descent Into Madness

If it is possible to watch a society—an entire civilization—go insane, we are watching that phenomenon in real time. Across all forms of media, the headlines bring fresh evidence daily.

Western civilization—that aggregation of cultural, political, social, and religious traditions that has formed the basis for European societies and those of their current and former colonies and territories—is committing suicide, using every weapon—philosophical, legal, political—at its disposal.

THE PRICE OF POWER

"It is unhealthy for our country and our democracy for money to be such a critical component of how legislative leaders are selected. This dirty secret has metastasized into a major cancer afflicting our legislative process. The time to combat this is now. Nothing less than the public's trust in government itself is at stake."

Supreme Court Rejects Attempt to Expand No-Excuse Mail-in Ballots in Texas

"Unless the people, through unified action, arise and take charge of their government, they will find that their government has taken charge of them. Independence and liberty will be gone, and the general public will find itself in a condition of servitude to an aggregation of organized and selfish interest." —Calvin Coolidge

THE POWER OF THE PEOPLE IS STRONGER THAN THE PEOPLE IN POWER

Direct Democracy

4. Citizens *directly engage in crafting legislation, including proposing and developing bills, legislative documents, legislative policy, and protocols.

Humans are the creator species; we can create the future we want; we can evolve our “democracy.” Voting is needed; what we don’t need are a tiny minority of politicians voting on behalf of everyone else. That scenario has become a recipe for disaster, as indicated by the impending collapse of the United States of America, and much of the Western world, in the twenty-first century.

Selection by Intelligent Filtration

Citizens interested in pursuing a position as a public representative can opt in on their tax return. There can be no forced selection, no involuntary government servitude. Eligible citizens who want to play a constructive role in the legislative process can choose to throw their hat into the ring. If they’re eligible, qualified, and fortuitous, they will be selected at random in the first round of candidates.

Candidates should be selected based on their Social Security numbers or other government identification number. Imagine a selection process that eliminates all irrelevant factors such as political party, religion, race, gender, and sexual orientation. Imagine a selection process that eliminates outside money. We all know that outside money has shamefully corrupted our government.

The selections are filtered through a series of intelligent processes that screen out ineligible candidates. You can’t opt in on your tax return if you don’t pay taxes. You can’t be in the selection pool if you don’t have an official identification number. These are initial filters.

For the U.S. House of Representatives, a candidate must be a legal citizen, age 25 or older, at least seven years a citizen of the United States, and a resident of the constituency of which he or she will represent. For the U.S. Senate, they must be at least 30 years old and have been a U.S. citizen for nine years. These criteria are specified in the United States Constitution.

Counterfeit Cash Financed Midterm Democrats

If you thought Republicans were the party of big business and the heartless rich, you might be wondering how Democrats managed to outspend Republicans in key races this year, like John Fetterman raking in nearly $48 million in his Pennsylvania U.S. Senate campaign, while the GOP opponent he defeated, Mehmet Oz, took in only about $12 million, (augmented by loaning himself $21 million). Or incumbent New Hampshire U.S. Sen. Maggie Hassan being re-elected after raising $38 million, while her GOP challenger, Trump-backed retired Gen. Don Bolduc, pulled in a mere $2.2 million. A big part of the answer is that Democrats are now the party of the snake oil mogul.

Before his financial scam came crashing to an end this month and over $2 billion in FTX clients' investments dissolved, Bankman-Friend had handed Joe Biden $10 million during the 2020 presidential election and gave Democrats over $40 million in this year's midterms, likely buying the party a majority in the U.S. Senate in the next Congress. Now ruined, he was the second-biggest donor to the party's campaigns, behind only Hungarian-born leftist billionaire currency manipulator George Soros.

Scant Election Reforms Since 2020 Forebode a Repeat in November

Massive voter fraud allegations that marred the 2020 election spurred a political and grassroots movement from coast to coast to pursue an array of election reforms designed to increase election integrity. However, with just months left ahead of the 2024 election, Republicans say little was mended, especially in contested states where they thought fixes were needed most. Much concern is centered around five key swing states that became the focus of 2020: Georgia, Pennsylvania, Arizona, Michigan, and Wisconsin.

Two Weeks to Flatten Became Eight Months to Change the Election

March 2020: The CDC and the CARES Act Meddle in the Election

April and May 2020: Voter Fraud Skyrockets

In May 2020, New Jersey held municipal elections and required all voting take place via mail. The State's third largest city, Paterson, held its election for city council. The results should have been a national scandal that ended the push for mail-in voting. Shortly after the election, the Postal Service discovered "hundreds of mail-in ballots" in one town mailbox. Paterson resident Ramona Javier never received her mail-in ballot for the election. Neither did eight of her family members and neighbors, yet they were all listed as having voted. "We did not receive vote-by-mail ballots and thus we did not vote," she told the press. "This is corruption. This is fraud."

Direct Democracy

All qualified selected candidates would be required to take a comprehensive test to prove they have an acceptable understanding of how government functions. Those who refuse to take the test or who fail it are filtered out. Those who score highest on the test remain in the final, randomly selected group. It is this final cut from which the representatives and backup candidates are selected, based on their identification numbers, general qualifications, and test results.

We no longer need to vote for representatives. For the legislative body, no elections would be needed, no political parties would be in control; there would be no gender considerations, the process would be color blind, there would be no rejections based on socio-economic status, no outside money would be involved.

Citizens can and should develop and propose legislation, either as individuals or in organized groups (think church groups, trade unions, parent groups, community organizations, and so on). Our randomly selected representatives and committee members would coordinate and execute the legislative process. The votes of the citizens must be counted, and they must be binding.

This is called “direct democracy,” and we need it. If we want to change the face of a nation, then change how its decisions are made. Take the power away from a wealthy minority and put it squarely where it belongs: in the hands of all the people. No matter how we describe the problem of a democracy gone awry, a solution must be found. Direct democracy is one that must be considered.

Brainwashing Machines

Currently, in 2024, in the United States of America, our government is mired in corruption, division, animosity, injustice, and frustration. Government fraud and malfeasance are undeniable, despicable, and disgusting. Much of it surrounds one issue: elections. American elections have become rigged, corrupt, and sleazy. No thinking person trusts them.

The exceptions, perhaps, are the “weak-minded TV watchers.” brainwashed masses of people whose minds have become weak and corrupted by the endless stream of propaganda fed directly to them by their “brainwashing machines,” otherwise known as televisions, social media platforms, and search engines.

A clandestine group of billionaires, employing an army of clever hackers, subservient media operatives, paid ballot box stuffers, and a host of other illicit accomplices, can shift votes by the millions one way or another, hack voting machines, control search engines, send private election data to foreign destinations, block opposition voices, censor free speech, and propagandize the public in a manner that our founding fathers could never have imagined.

The playbook is well known — divide and conquer. Us versus Them. Right versus Left. Democrats versus Republicans. Liberals versus Conservatives. Male vs Female. Straight vs Gay. Neighbor against neighbor, brother against brother, families torn apart with no healing in sight. So long as a conflicting dichotomy is maintained, the public will easily be misled, controlled, conquered, and subjugated, like sheep in a pasture, with the barking dogs of mainstream propaganda herding them one way or the other.

At this dark hour, now is not the time to get drawn into the petty issues that are floated before us as a distraction by the media and its owners. We the people must think for ourselves, think outside the box, find solutions, and act on them. New ideas must be proposed, discussed, developed, and realized. Direct democracy offers a way out of the corner we have painted ourselves into. The idea, which is totally legal, practical, and doable, offers a starting point, allowing us to imagine and create a future for humanity based on truth, justice, and real democracy, rather than greed, corruption, and conflict.

Civil War Must Be Avoided

Nobody wants a civil war other than those who will profit from it in one way or another. Catastrophic “Loss of Control” Data Breach in NY Elections

A peer-reviewed study in the Journal of Information Warfare (JIW) confirms a “Loss of Control” breach has occurred in the NYSVoter Database.

“Through auditing the voter roll databases, obtained directly from state and local boards of elections, we have uncovered millions of invalid registrations, hundreds of thousands of votes cast by legally invalid registrations, hundreds of thousands of votes cast by legally invalid registrants, massive vote discrepancies, and the clear presence of algorithmic patterns we reverse engineered from within the state’s own official records.

To be absolutely clear, there is no known innocent purpose or explanation for why these algorithms exist. I am told by cyber-intelligence experts they indicate a ‘Total Loss of Control’ data breach, the most severe kind of data breach recognized by our federal government. The law says it renders the affected NYSVoter database completely untrustworthy.”

creatively to allow democracy to unfold in a non-violent manner. We must never turn our guns against each other. When a snake is biting you, chop off the head, don't shoot your brother or sister. Cut the strings of the puppet masters, then bring the puppet masters to justice. We do not need to be foolishly led into a war against ourselves.

The human race is a creator species. We create things that otherwise would not be found in nature: plastic, steel, glass, music, art, harnessed nuclear energy, electric motors, aircraft, and so on. Why can't we also create a better democracy? When we elect a "representative," we terminate our right to vote, handing it over to someone else, a person who spends incredible amounts of money to become "elected." Sometimes, that representative is nothing more than a political prostitute, owing favors to special interests and opulent backers who expect the representative to support and pass legislation that favors them. The oligarchs expect favors, and if they are not forthcoming, their money spigot is shut off.

Representatives consequently spend much of their time in the congress or senate (at both state and federal levels), groveling for money to run for reelection. For generations, U.S. representatives were almost entirely wealthy white men. They primarily voted to advance the interests of wealthy white men. They did not represent their constituents, except on paper. Blacks and Native Americans were pushed out of the legislative process altogether. Women had the right to vote in the Soviet Union before they did in the United States. This is an inconvenient fact that is not taught in American public schools.

Today, Congressional representatives include a greater balance of females and more ethnic diversity, but these people are almost all controlled by a political party, primarily Democrat or Republican. Representatives still don't represent their constituents, nor can they. Republican and Democrat congresspersons should be impartial to political leanings to be fair, since about half of their constituents are likely to be Democrat and half Republican. Fair representation isn't happening. Many representatives instead vote lockstep with their political party.

It's no longer 1776. We no longer have to choose a representative from our village to ride a horse over miles of dirt roads to get to a central location to cast a vote on behalf of our community. We live in the twenty-first century, and it's time to update our political system instead of trying to fit a square 1776 election model into a round twenty-first century hole. It isn't working. Let's use the technology we have to move civilization forward, to evolve our governmental processes, and fortify our basic, common interests.

The U.S. Declaration of Independence, signed on July 4, 1776, states:

“We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness. That to secure these rights, Governments are instituted among Men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That whenever any Form of Government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to affect their Safety and Happiness.”

The preamble to the Constitution of the United States, effective since March 4, 1789, states:

“We the People of the United States, in Order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, ensure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.”

The United States government was created as a tool to serve the people. Period. The people do not serve the government; our ancestors created it to be used as a tool for our benefit. It exists to protect and secure our inalienable rights: Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness. We have strayed so far from this intent. Even though most government employees are good and decent people, our federal government has become a criminal enterprise at the highest levels. Our “representatives” rob our treasury by starting useless, pointless, offensive wars, shuffling billions, even trillions of dollars into their pockets or the pockets of their handlers.

Not content to rely on messy, drawn-out warfare to drain the people's treasury, criminals cleverly came up with a new idea in 2019: plan and orchestrate "pandemics." The 2020 COVID "pandemic" crashed the stock market, then quickly funneled $4 trillion out of the U.S. treasury into the pockets of the people who orchestrated it.

Propaganda platforms kept the population so scared they didn't even know they were being robbed, even though it was in broad daylight and right in front of their eyes. When the stock market hit bottom, people who were already wealthy bought up stocks at bargain prices, causing the stock market to revive, while making trillions of dollars in profits in the process.

Our national debt has skyrocketed to $35 trillion and continues to rise exponentially. Our politicians have done this to us. Our "representatives" have created this obscene debt while pretending to serve their constituents. They are robbing us blind. Who is expected to pay that money back? Our grandchildren?

Who collects the interest on this gargantuan debt, to the tune of a trillion dollars of interest payments per year? Where are those payments going? Who is pocketing that money? Imagine being able to rake in a trillion dollars a year by doing nothing at all, just sitting back and gaming the system. A billion is a thousand million dollars. A trillion is a thousand billion dollars.

Imagine if you could rob someone of four trillion dollars in just one year. Our treasury, the money we collect from the working class in the form of taxes, has become a pot to pilfer, to rob, and to be drained by criminal masterminds while we keep on working, keep on paying taxes, and keep on watching our money vanish while we remain distracted, censored, frightened, threatened, entertained, and propagandized by the brainwashing machines. Working people are like cows being milked by billionaires sitting back on their private islands playing us all like a giant video game.

Former intelligence officials said that the Hunter Biden laptop was "Russian disinformation" while recently the FBI admitted the laptop and its contents were real. The whole "Russia gate" scandal was made up and paid for by Democratic Party operatives and Hillary Clinton. Mark Zuckerberg gave almost half a billion dollars to pay off local election officials. The J6 Committee hearings we now know were orchestrated by a former executive for ABC News and evidence on many important issues (such as to what extent Federal agents were involved in manipulating the crowd) have been suppressed.

put your feet up, sip a Mexican beer, order a coffee table made in Thailand, and have it at your door within a week. We all have Social Security Administration web pages listing our income, year by year, and our Social Security “benefits.” Why not include on that website, or another similar publicly funded service, another section listing pending legislation which we can all review, provide input to, and vote on? All eligible citizens should be able to vote directly on legislation and those votes must be binding. Any taxpaying citizen of eligible age should also be able to propose legislation easily and directly. Then, we the people can control our government, our lives, and our collective pocketbook.

Direct democracy would remove money from legislative politics, eliminate the need for political parties in the houses of representatives, provide equal opportunities for everyone, no matter your gender, your skin color, age, or socio-economic status, and create true democracy for the very first time in the history of the United States.

A ‘Well-Funded Cabal’ Influenced the 2020 Election

In a laudatory 2021 article in Time titled “The Secret History of the Shadow Campaign That Saved the 2020 Election,” author Molly Ball detailed a “well-funded cabal of powerful people, ranging across industries and ideologies, working together behind the scenes to influence perceptions, change rules and laws, steer media coverage, and control the flow of information.”

The “conspiracy,” as Ms. Ball described it, included DNC operatives, union leaders, tech and social-media companies, Wall Street bankers, and a network of nonprofit donor funds that pooled hundreds of millions of dollars to finance “armies of poll workers and got millions of people to vote by mail for the first time.”
