

People never understood the problems Edgar Allen Poe was going through. His stories and poems may have been odd and on the dark side a little bit but that's what made him such a good author. It's also why I like him so much. As for me my poems are pretty deep and usually from experience, which is what makes them good. It makes the reader feel everything as they read it whether it be fear or joy. That's how a writer gets their money.

Angelica Blevins is a Muslim woman who lives with her husband in Ohio. She has been writing since she was twelve years old. She converted to Islam in October 2006 and now goes by Ayisha. She likes mythology, cruises, video games, writing, the ocean, and traveling. Her favorite poet is Edgar Allen Poe.

www.PublishAmerica.com

6.00 x 9.00

.21

6.00 x 9.00