

About the Author

Del Garrett grew up in Galveston County, Texas, and graduated from the Defense Information School of Journalism in 1979. He took post graduate courses at the University of Oklahoma in 1981. His news and feature stories have appeared in international newspapers and magazines. His first fiction story appeared in Louis L'Amour's Western Magazine in 1995. He has also been published in Pro Se Presents, Blood Moon Rising, Gateway Science Fiction and Storyteller Magazine. He is active in several writers groups and is available as an editor and for speaking engagements. He lives in Judsonia, Arkansas.

Photo by Codi Bogard

Visit his web site at www.authorsden.com/delgarrett

TEXAS JUSTICE

An old political enemy sends a killer bounty hunter after a retired Texas Ranger who killed a man in cold blood. The Ranger's adopted son has to track him down before the bounty hunter can find him. Along the way, the young Ranger discovers a plot to steal the largest ranch in the area. He's torn between losing his adopted father and maybe losing the woman he loves.

$12 US

Raven's Inn Press

806 Rhoden Rd.
Judsonia, AR
72081

WESTERN

Texas Justice

Del Garrett

Texas Justice

Del Garrett