

The mystical effects of Ponder Rings are legendary...yet Greg Gault never considers he'd have anything to do with such fables. He walks into The Joint one evening, apathetic and indifferent, and a woman inspires him. Greg finds himself wearing a Ponder Ring...entering a realm of thought and vision. The toxic rings are said to move a soul to a fresh perspective...to enhance awareness. Some say the sane become insane...the ordinary becomes extraordinary. Most, however, agree the stories of the rings are just fantasy. Thrust into wild encounters, alleged realities, and astonishing realizations, Greg is left to determine who he is and what life is all about. The fundamental nature of his existence must be reexamined and reevaluated. Greg discovers the world reflects exactly what he sees in his heart and mind. He learns to trust and believe, to hope and dream.
